A WAIT ORDERS FOR AID PLANS FOR TRANSIENTS

Vancouver Officials Say They Will Not Supply Needs of Men Expelled From Camps Unless Provincial Government Pledges Payment

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 29.—Vancouver civic officials are anxiously awaiting advice as to what provincial authorities intend to do about the transient unemployed expelled from relief camps and why they are given transportation to Vancouver.

Yesterday Mayor Louis B. Taylor sent a protest to Victoria. He asked for early advice as to what the government planned to do.

The men who have arrived here already have a few dollars, representing cash allowances made by the government in excess of their food and lodgings in camp. When this is gone the men will apply to the city relief department for aid. A few have been referred to the provincial authorities in Vancouver.

CAME AFTER JANUARY 1
Victoria's attitude, it is reported, is that the transients are from other provinces and arrived here later than January 1, 1931. Lacking authority to send them back to their home provinces, the government sent them to relief camps, but did not give them registration cards.

As far as Vancouver is concerned, it is stated, the men will not be given relief except on instructions from the province, and in that case, the cost will be assessed to Victoria.

The letter sent by Mayor L. D. Taylor of Vancouver to the Attorney-General, protesting against free transportation to Vancouver being provided to unemployed in camps being closed, was received at the Parliament Buildings today. It was stated it would receive attention on the return of Hon. B. H. Foley to the city at the week-end.

Government Turns Over Administration of Single Men and Transient Relief

Close Langley Street Office As Economy Move Continues

Closing of the relief office at 1114 Langley Street and turning over of relief administration for single men and transients to the city are the latest moves in the government's relief economy plans affecting Victoria, according to advice received at the City Hall this morning.

The office on Langley Street, initially opened by the city, has been used by John Day as a provincial government office in recent months to handle single men and transients here. These duties henceforth will be undertaken by city officers and Mr. Day's services will be dispensed with.

While the city is to handle the administration of the relief, the government will continue to contribute up to forty cents per day per man, but no allowance will be made for the administration costs.

The relief committee of the City Council will meet shortly to make the necessary arrangements for taking over the work. The changes go into effect at the end of this month.

Grasshoppers Are Big Crop Menace

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, June 29.—The Manitoba Department of Agriculture considers the grasshopper plague constitutes the most serious threat to crops in Manitoba. Rains are needed in some districts, says a report issued by the department today, but there is no immediate danger of drought.

The grasshopper hatch has been "unbelievably heavy," particularly in the South Red River valley, notes the report.

Wheat harvesting will start earlier than usual, states the report.

STOWAWAY MAKES 2,500-MILE FLIGHT

Associated Press

New York, June 29.—A twenty-five-year-old stowaway made a 2,500-mile flight from Cristobal, Panama Canal Zone, to Miami, Florida, in the fall of a twenty-two passenger flying boat, the Pan-American Airways announced today.

The stowaway, Paul Kaiser, a German, was discovered yesterday morning when the boat landed at the airways base in Florida after a forty-nine-hour flight. He had not eaten in two days and was in a weakened condition. Kaiser was lodged in jail pending deportation.

Communist Candidate For U.S. Presidency Has Experience in Los Angeles

Attempt to Make Speech Cause of Police Action; Release Not Explained

Los Angeles, June 29.—William Z. Foster, nominee of the Communist party for the presidency of the United States, charged with "suspicion of syndicalism," was released from the city jail here early today on orders of Capt. William F. Hayes, head of the police "red" squad.

Capt. Hayes gave no explanation of the order.

The fifty-one-year-old Communist leader was arrested yesterday when he attempted to speak to a crowd at the Municipal Plaza. His bail had been set at $10,000, and a habeas corpus hearing had been set for 3:30 p.m. today.

Disorder followed the arrest yesterday, and police hurriedly dispersed the crowd with tear gas bombs.

Japanese Navy Opposes Cut Plans
Associated Press

Tokyo, June 29.—The navy office has notified Vice-Admiral Shishino Inagano, chief naval adviser of the Japanese delegation at the World Disarmament Conference at Geneva, that it is strongly opposed to nearly all the naval reductions proposed by President Hoover of the United States. It was learned today.

The Foreign Office, however, was not ready to instruct Ambassador Tsubono Matsudaira regarding its attitude on the Hoover plan.

Thomas Lazarus, Capitol Restaurant, Forced to Open Till By Armed Bandit

Vancouver, June 29.—Held up by an armed bandit while two women customers looked on, Thomas Lazarus, waiter at the Capitol Cafe, Granville Street, was robbed of $25 at 2:30 o'clock this morning.

The man walked into the restaurant and requested a cup of coffee. While Lazarus was getting it the bandit approached the cash register, which he endeavored to open.

When the attempt failed, the gunman produced a revolver and ordered Lazarus to open it. He scooped the cash from the drawer and walked out.

Dominions To State Arms Cut Views

At Geneva Conference British Say They Will Consult Rest of Empire on Hoover's One-third Reduction Plan

Geneva, Switzerland, June 29.—Sir John Simon, British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, told Hugh Gibson, chief of the United States delegation to the Disarmament Conference here today, the British government would have to consult the Dominions and the Admiralty before formulating any definite policy with regard to President Hoover's proposal for reducing the world's arms by one-third.

The three-power conversations on the Hoover plan will be continued tomorrow.

NEW UTILITIES BOARD URGED
B.C. Municipal Union Suggests Provincial Commission to Serve Without Salaries

Nelson, B.C., June 29.—A public utilities commission that shall have wide powers, but not be paid for its services, is asked for by the Union of British Columbia Municipalities.

At the concluding session of its three-day annual convention here yesterday the union adopted a resolution drawn up by Alderman W. J. Moffat of Kamloops. Reeve J. T. Brown of Surrey and Comptroller A. J. Pickington of Vancouver, requesting the provincial government to appoint forthwith a public utilities commission, either under the provisions of the Water Act or by special enactment, with full powers to fix reasonable rates for services, to provide for uniformity in its back a number of municipalities.

A Grand Forks resolution that would make the property owners of a municipality and not the government, the judge of whether a municipality should develop power was adopted. After being before the convention once, it was referred to the resolutions committee for further consideration.

Mayor Love stating he had found since coming to the convention that there were other municipalities in nearly parallel situation, with Grand Forks whose cases could not be covered as the resolution stood. At the final session, however, he said the proposal to alter the resolution had been withdrawn.

It requests "that the Municipal Act be amended by inserting a provision to the effect that, notwithstanding anything contained in the Water Act, any municipality may construct, install and operate its own power plant and electric lighting plant, without obtaining the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, provided three-fourths of the ratepayers approve of the same; if necessary, that a similar amendment be made to the 'Water Act'."

BUMPER WHEAT CROP IS SEEN

Prairie Farmers Optimistic; Conditions Encouraging, Says Imperial Oil Official

Frank Prendergast Making Survey of Economic Conditions in Canada

"Conditions throughout the west look very encouraging, with the prairie farmers about to harvest one of the finest crops I have ever seen," declared Frank Prendergast, advertising manager of the Imperial Oil Co., who arrived here this morning in the course of a nationwide tour to survey economic conditions.

Mr. Prendergast flew here from Vancouver with W. C. Gilchrist, of Cochrane, Brown and Co., Toronto, in the Imperial Oil Company's "Puss Moth" airplane piloted by "Pat" Reid, noted Canadian flyer.

"I never saw prairie crops in such good condition," Mr. Prendergast said. "There are no really bad spots, and the farmers anticipate a really good crop, providing no unforeseen circumstances intervene. The wheat growers no longer think in terms of dollars per bushel, but in terms of dollars per acre. The present crop was put in at the lowest cost on recent record. Undoubtedly, if favorable weather conditions obtain, there will be a lot of money in circulation in the west this fall. The farmers are very optimistic."

The farmers were wearing out essential equipment, and would soon be in the market to purchase replacements, giving an impetus to business throughout the Dominion, Mr. Gilchrist said, who also referred to the bright prospects for a bumper wheat crop.

NEW GASOLINE
The Imperial Oil Co. will shortly place a new and radically improved gasoline on the market. The local plant of the company has been preparing for production of the new gasoline during the last year.

The company's British Columbia plant will be approximately 11,000,000 this year. Growth of the local plant is shown in the arrival of 100 large tankers with supplies each year, according to 20 per cent increase in Vancouver harbor's tonnage total.

Mr. Prendergast and Mr. Gilchrist arrived in Vancouver with the party of C. O. Stillman, president of the Imperial Oil Co.

"Pat" Reid set a new record when he completed the flight from Winnipeg to Vancouver in twelve hours and fifty minutes yesterday. The distance is 1,285 miles. He flew here from Vancouver to Victoria in forty minutes.

Mr. Reid was leader of the Transcanada Air Pageant tour last year.

Nomination Money Report Is Denied
Associated Press

Chicago, June 29.—Headquarters of Franklin D. Roosevelt promptly dispelled any connection today with an attempt attributed by Frank Schofield, manager for Melvin A. Trowler, Chicago banker, to Roosevelt supporters to have Trowler withdraw from the Democratic presidential nomination campaign.

Schofield charged in a statement he dictated to newspaper men today that an unidentified man who he said described himself as a Roosevelt worker had offered him $10,000 to sign a statement withdrawing Trowler's name.

Under cross-examination, Haskell said he had visited Curtis in jail after he had confessed his negotiations were a hoax and Curtis at that time emphatically reaffirmed that he had been in touch with the actual abductors.

Haskell said Curtis had told him he had confessed all his stories of negotiations were a hoax in order "to get some sleep."

Curtis has since repudiated his confession and even the prosecution is disregarding it, attempting to prove instead that Curtis really was in touch with the abductors and by his false confession hindered their capture.

Col. Lindbergh, however, testified yesterday he did not think Curtis had ever been in contact either with the abductors or their representatives.

DESCRIBED IN DETAIL
Frank J. Wilson of Baltimore, special agent of the revenue department, testified that at the Lindbergh home near Hopewell, N.J., on the night the body of the baby was found Curtis described to him in detail the members of the gang he said he had been dealing with.

He said Curtis named the gang as John, "Dynamite," Eric, Nils and Sam Goldberg, "a great big Norwegian Jew."

Curtis also described a woman called Hilda, who he said was "Dynamite's" wife, and gave small details of the alleged schooner of the abductors. Wilson testified widespread federal activities had been undertaken as a result of Curtis's story, work in other directions being halted.

STEEL TRADE HEADS CONFER

British Leaders Visit Eastern Canada to Discuss Possible Agreement

Canadian Press

Quebec, June 29.—Expressing the intention to co-operate in every way possible, a party of leading representatives of British steel industries today arrived here aboard the liner Empress of Britain for conferences with Canadian industrialists.

The purpose of the conferences is to find methods of stimulating intra-empire trade in steel products and to formulate an agreement that may be presented to the British and Canadian Governments with this end in view.

The party will remain in Canada until the Imperial Economic Conference, scheduled to open in Ottawa July 21. Shortly after their arrival here, members of the delegation were on their way to Montreal, where it is expected the conferences will open next Tuesday.

Canadian steel men have already stated there should be an opportunity to divert a considerably greater volume of the Canadian market to British mills. Particularly, it is said to be the case in connection with products of a kind not manufactured in this country.

With the committee still unable to return a report, the convention recessed at 2:15 until 7 p.m.

The first argument arose over whether the tariff declaration should contain the assertion that such levies would be for revenue only. This proposal was put forward by Senator Ford of Tennessee, a low tariff advocate and a Roosevelt supporter, and was finally adopted by the full committee. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

U.S. DEFICIT IS $2,837,644,900

New Fiscal Year Will Start July 1 With Additional Revenue Sources

Associated Press

Washington, June 29.—At midnight tomorrow the United States will close its fiscal year, and embark on a new period with additional revenue-producing machinery, together with an auxiliary economic programme which promises to produce sufficient income to keep the treasury in order.

The deficit was $2,837,644,900 as of June 28. Last year it was $602,716,000. The year before a $183,000,000 surplus was established and then ended eleven consecutive years of profitable operations.

The fiscal year 1933 will be different, government officials believe. With the new revenue bill of 1932 as the spearhead, there is expected to accrue $2,261,000,000 in taxes, a sum sufficient, says President Hoover, "to enable us to establish the credit of the federal government."

Germany Demands Boundary Changes
Associated Press

Lausanne, Switzerland, June 29.—It was learned on good authority that Franz von Papen, German Chancellor, had told Premier Herriot of France in conversation today that Germany demanded revision of the Polish Corridor and of the eastern frontiers, and redistribution of the world's gold supply, a factor which Germany believes a prerequisite to the revival of business.

This afternoon the British delegates at the reparations and war debt conference were still trying to arrange a compromise, but the French were packing their bags for Paris.

The young man, who became the eleventh earl on his father's death, finds himself worth more than $1,000,000, but it is not enough to maintain the historic castles and other property of the Egmonts, which will be sold.

Young Egmont made an unmarked exit from the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain, on which he and his uncle had traveled from Southampton.

Platform Committee of Convention at Chicago Votes in Favor of Prohibition Repeal

FIGHT NOW GOES TO CONVENTION FLOOR

Associated Press

Chicago, June 29.—The platform committee of the Democratic National Convention here today voted overwhelmingly to commit the party in favor of prohibition repeal. The vote was 35 to 17.

At a session this forenoon preceding the full platform committee meeting, the majority of the platform-making sub-committee by a 6 to 3 vote agreed on the language of a prohibition repeal submission plank.

The sub-committee immediately went before the whole committee with the complete platform, the hope being it would be reported to the convention later today.

The fight on prohibition was promptly renewed in the whole committee and as a result of the 35 to 17 vote will be carried to the floor of the convention, where the result is in doubt.

Roosevelt leaders sponsored the submission plank as against the straight repeal declaration, which won the full committee's approval.

The submission proposal was that Congress should be called on "to submit immediately" to state conventions a repeal amendment to be voted on to determine whether prohibition shall be retained.

It was proposed in the submission plank that control of the liquor traffic be returned to the states in event of repeal, with federal protection for dry states.

Chicago, June 29.—The full Democratic platform committee bore down so heavily on the draft brought in by its sub-committee today that the convention was forced to idle for several hours until the disputes raging over prohibition, tariff, silver and several other subjects could be ironed out.

With the committee still unable to return a report, the convention recessed at 2:15 until 7 p.m.

The first argument arose over whether the tariff declaration should contain the assertion that such levies would be for revenue only. This proposal was put forward by Senator Ford of Tennessee, a low tariff advocate and a Roosevelt supporter, and was finally adopted by the full committee. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

B.C. JUDICIAL APPOINTMENTS

Stir in Lawyers' Circles as Prospects of Bench Posts Discussed

Prospects of appointments to the British Columbia judiciary are causing a stir among Conservative lawyers.

Judge Hugh St. Quentin Cayley, senior judge of the county court of Vancouver, is slated for retirement on November 19, when he will attain the age of seventy-five.

Serious illness has stricken Judge Henry Dwight Bugles of the Vancouver county court bench in North Vancouver home. He is seventy-two. His many friends are hoping he will be able to resume his duties after the long vacation of July and August.

Both Judge Cayley and Judge Bugles were appointed to the county court bench in 1917.

MR. JUSTICE GALLIHIE
Illness prevented Mr. Justice W. A. Gallihie from attending the Court of Appeal at its last two sittings. He will be seventy-two on July 26.

Mr. Justice F. B. Gregory of the Supreme Court is also reported on the sick list. He will be seventy on August 25.

Mr. Justice Gallihie and Mr. Justice Gregory were appointed to their respective courts in 1905.

Many lawyers are mentioned as possible candidates for the bench. For the high courts there are heard the names of W. E. Burns, K.C.; G. M. O'Brien, K.C.; R. S. Leslie, K.C., and Leon J. Ladner, K.C. For the county court those mentioned include A. M. Harper, R. M. Macdonald, G. Fred Long and F. G. T. Lucas, K.C.

Germany Demands Boundary Changes

Germany's further demands to-day were outlined in a communique which related that President MacDonnell asked Chancellor Franz von Papen whether Germany was prepared to go any further toward settlement of reparations.

RIGHTS AND SECURITY
In reply the German Chancellor declared restoration of world confidence could only be effected when the victorious powers were ready to set aside the discriminations of Versailles.

"If," the German Chancellor added, "the rights of Germany and her security are thus established, the German Chancellor would regard it possible for Germany to contribute to a fund the purpose of which would be re-establishment of the economic equilibrium of Germany and that of the world."

Germany has long demanded elimination of the corridor to the sea ceded to Poland by the Treaty of Versailles, which France, consistently supporting Poland, contends is a necessary safeguard to the peace of Europe. The corridor separates Germany proper from East Prussia.

Germany contends Europe cannot have lasting peace so long as East Prussia with Memel are surrounded by Polish territory.

Poland insists her new boundaries safeguard peace, and some unofficial Polish elements have demanded further territory to brace the corridor, such as acquisition of the Free City of Danzig.

By George Hamilton, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Lausanne, June 29.—This was a day of crisis for the Lausanne conference on reparations and war debts.

It opened with no apparent bridge between the French and German delegations, whose differences over reparations have seemingly nullified the prospects of the conference.

The French and Germans were again negotiating to-day and overnight reflection had not diminished the modified optimism at British headquarters.

But the French remained pessimistic. They continued to regard the German offers as inadequate. The Germans, for their part, denied there had been any change in their attitude as a result of Chancellor von Papen's visit to Berlin last week-end.

TREATY REVISION

Chancellor von Papen flatly declared to newspapermen to-day that Germany's delegation demanded revision of the Versailles Treaty, eliminating "discrimination" as the price of German participation in efforts at world reconstruction. "World confidence cannot be restored," he said, "if the victorious powers do not decide to eliminate the discrimination created by the Treaty of Versailles."

The Germans declare themselves ready for a wide political and consultative pact. They declare their willingness to contribute to a pool for the reconstruction of Central Europe. Yet, the French assert the German Chancellor returned from Berlin in a changed mood. Germany could meet the position by either resuming reparations payments, offering economic compensations for their cancellation, or entering a security agreement, the French say, adding that as a matter of fact Germany has offered none of these.

Her offer of a general reconstruction scheme carries no compensation for the loss of reparations, in the French viewpoint.

ANXIETY AMONG LEADERS

And conference circles are anxiously awaiting the next move. With the likelihood of a breakup of the conference if no formula of agreement is discovered very shortly. Supporting the sober optimism of the British delegates is the fact that some little advance has been made by the French and Germans, even though they remain wide apart. On the one hand the French are at least contemplating cancellation of reparations if they can receive adequate compensation. On the other hand the Germans do not refuse to pay anything, at all, provided this "something" is not called reparations.

HERIOT AND CHAMBER

Paris, June 29.—Some of to-day's newspapers predicted difficulties for Premier Herriot when he reports to the Chamber of Deputies on the situation at Lausanne and Geneva, dealing with reparations war debts and disarmament.

The cabinet has approved his course step by step, but it was said some of the outer left members of Herriot's Radical-Socialist Party share with the Socialists the opinion that Premier Herriot should accept the Hoover plan to reduce armaments by one-third and should agree to cancellation of reparations.

This trend of opinion, according to the newspapers, was manifested at yesterday's meeting of the Radical-Socialist parliamentary party. The Herriot government drives its support from the Radical Socialists and the more leftist Socialists led by Leon Blum.

Negotiations Are Stated Impossible

London, June 29.—While his audience of prominent Conservatives cheered, Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Acting Prime Minister, made it quite clear in an address at a dinner of the 1900 Club here yesterday evening that Britain will not negotiate with the Irish Free State at the Ottawa Imperial Economic Conference or anywhere else.

Britain would not enter negotiations with a government which she considered had broken the Anglo-Irish treaty by passage of a bill to abolish the oath of allegiance to the King. "I regret profoundly," Mr. Baldwin said, "anything that hinders what ought to be a law of nature—the trade between Ireland and ourselves."

New Uniform Style Spreads To Oak Bay

Police Chief Syme Adopts Vogue Set by Chief Heatley in City and Discards Braid and Military Collar.

When Chief Thomas Heatley of the city police force made a radical change in the style of his uniform this month, he apparently set a new vogue for municipal police chiefs of this district.

Chief John Syme of Oak Bay has adopted the new design for his summer tunic, which will have the open collar and turned-down lapels, relegating the old style of black braid and high military collar to the discard. The Oak Bay police commission, after viewing the latest models as displayed by the city officers, accepted the style for their chief.

Police chiefs in Esquimalt and Oak Bay have been noticed casting an approving eye on the smart and cool costume adopted by Chief Heatley, but have not taken steps yet to follow suit. It is understood.

During the luncheon the secretary was instructed to write a letter of sympathy to the family of the late Rev. J. R. Robertson, secretary of the conference since its inception, who died in Vancouver a day before the sessions opened here.

A report was given by the treasurer. Visiting delegates expressed their appreciation of the courtesy extended them by the elders, the organist and ladies of Metropolitan United, as well as the merchants of Victoria, who had shown them every consideration during the convention.

This morning's devotional service was conducted by Rev. Willard Brewster, D.D., St. Andrew's Wesley United Church, Vancouver.

Professor C. J. Jackson, Ph.D., Dean of St. Stephen's Theological United Church College, Edmonton, gave an address on "Criticism and the Church."

Test Chicago Convention On Prohibition Repeal

On silver, the committee also accepted the sub-committee's proposal pledging the party in favor of an international monetary conference "to rehabilitate silver." Various substitutes for the silver plank were rejected.

Through a haze of tobacco smoke pierced by the fierce yellow rays of a battery of photographers' lights, convention delegates yesterday evening whooped it up for Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, whose election as permanent chairman of the convention was listed as a triumph for the forces of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The convention also settled two state delegation contests by seating official groups from Louisiana and Minnesota supposedly favorable to Roosevelt.

Senator Walsh, who ruled the turbulent Madison Square Garden convention in 1924, got the job this time when the delegates yesterday evening gave him 626 votes against 528 for J. Stuart Hughes, of Kansas, chairman of the executive committee of the party for the last three years. Hughes represented anti-Roosevelt forces.

The Walsh demonstration was not so lively nor general, not did it last so long as that of the previous day against prohibition. States supporting Roosevelt made a parade around the hall while the noble organ, considered by many to be the best feature of the convention, again merrily piped and tooted "Happy Days Are Here Again."

There were small fistfights, much cheering, whistling and "yahoos" by delegates glad to stretch their muscles after long sitting.

DUTIES AND TASKS

After announcement of his election, Senator Walsh reminded the party of its duties and tasks—and attacked the Republican opposition. As for the recent administration, he said that for the last eleven years the government had been run on "the theory that national well-being is to be looked for by giving free rein to the captains of industry and magnates in the field of finance, and accommodating government to their desires."

"From every section of the country an aroused and wrathful people demand a new deal," he declared, to the delight of the assembled Democrats.

He gave full measure of criticism to high tariffs, fiscal policies and the attitude he said the government had assumed toward industry and agricultural relief.

"None will question that in the struggle for reactivation the barriers to international trade arising from ill-considered readjustment of national boundaries, the revived and intensified national hatreds and embargo tariffs and similar restrictions are major obstacles," he said in pointing out difficulties in the way of commerce recovery. The occasion calls for the most liberal international cooperation. Too late it has come to be realized our prosperity is intimately bound up in that of the rest of the world.

"Having become the greatest credit nation on earth, with all Europe our debtors, we demanded that they pay, and proceeded to build higher our tariff wall not once, but twice, in less than ten years, in effect adding to their obligations and diminishing their ability to pay."

"Retaliatory tariffs were to be expected and they have come."

MCINTYRE PORCUPINE PROFITS

Toronto, June 29 (Canadian Press).—Earnings of $2.65 per share, after allowances had been made for depreciation, were shown in the annual report of McIntyre Porcupine Mines Limited, issued here to-day. Net profit for the year, before depreciation provision was made, was $2,373,747.

The company's surplus was increased by $729,125, after $798,000 had been allowed for dividends, $261,105 for depreciation of plant and equipment and $500,000 for securities reserve. Bullion recovery during the year totaled $5,305,521, while operating profit was shown at $2,491,595. Total operating costs, before providing for taxes and depreciation, were $2,513,624, the report shows, while $220,134 had been appropriated for municipal, provincial and Dominion taxes.

JUDGMENT FOR $1,000 IS GIVEN

Canadian Press

Vancouver, June 29.—A "cruel fraud" was the description applied in the B.C. Supreme Court by Chief Justice Morrison to the obtaining of $1,000 from the plaintiff, Miss Mary Eakin, rooming house proprietor, East Georgia street, by the defendant, Edwin B. Skinner, broker, East Twenty-eighth avenue, for a quarter interest in an alleged gold-bearing property.

Miss Eakin was awarded judgment against Skinner for $1,000 and interest, together with costs.

On August 18 she paid Skinner $1,000 for a quarter interest in place and quartz claims in the vicinity of Mamquam River, eight miles east of Squamish. She was shown a letter, purporting to have been written twenty-seven years ago by a prospector, who reported gold in the area.

Investigation subsequently failed to show gold, and the plaintiff demanded the return of her money, in accordance with the terms of the agreement.

The Chief Justice commended Miss Eakin for exposing the scheme.

JOHN H. CURTIS IS TO TESTIFY

At New Jersey Trial He Will Defend His Course in Lindbergh Hunt

Associated Press
Pleasanton, N.J., June 29.—John Hughes Curtis, who sat in court for two days and heard Col. Charles A. Lindbergh call the clues he offered worthless, prepared to-day to take the stand in defending himself against a charge of obstructing the hunt for the persons who abducted the Lindbergh baby.

The Norfolk, Virginia, boat builder's attorneys announced he would take the stand, probably in a day or two. The nature of his defence was not disclosed. He had repudiated a confession that he had concocted untruths that sent Col. Lindbergh on futile sea quests.

The state's last-minute contention that Curtis was in actual touch with the abductors received a blow from the filer's own lips yesterday.

"At the present time I do not believe he ever had contact with the kidnapers," Col. Lindbergh testified. "I do not believe he knew who originally took the child or who had the child in their possession."

IDENTIFICATION

There was a hush in the courtroom as the filer told about learning his baby was dead.

"How did you identify the body?" he was asked.

"By the clothes and the feet," he replied quietly.

Col. Lindbergh reaffirmed his faith in the nurse, Betty Gow; in Olive Westley, housekeeper, after electrifying the jury by saying Curtis had told him the abduction had been arranged "through a member of my own household."

He also reaffirmed his faith in Dr. John F. Jettie Condon, who futilely paid $50,000 of Col. Lindbergh's money to a supposed member of the gang of abductors.

Aid for Curtis came from the testimony of Edmund B. Bruce, a banker from Elmira, N.Y. He said Curtis was a "liar," but insisted that "I do not think he is guilty under this indictment."

Bruce, friend of the Curtis family and driver of the car in which Curtis made several trips, said that one night in New York Curtis pointed out to him a man he said was "John," the "most desperate" of the band of abductors. He watched "John" come out of a cafeteria "looking neither to left nor right"—just as Curtis said "John" would act.

CHINA FORCES MASS FOR FIGHT

Honan-Hupeh Troops Gather to Battle With Communists

Associated Press
Hankow, China, June 29.—Three women and five children were abducted by bandits near Kikungshan, in southern Honan province, last Sunday, were released to-day.

The report said the bandits were holding the two men abducted at the same time. They are: D. W. Wigner, Mead, Nebraska, attached to the Augustana Synod Mission, and E. Byhus, Fertile, Iowa, of the Lutheran Brethren Church Mission.

Nanking, June 29.—Chinese reports received here to-day said a force of 20,000 Communists, a part of which was responsible for the abduction of several missionaries near Kikungshan last Sunday, was massing along the Kinkang Railway on the border of Honan and Hupeh provinces.

The Communists interrupted railway traffic, destroyed bridges and were ravaging the countryside, the reports said. Forces of 4,000 Honan and Hupeh provincial troops were reported moving against them.

NEW PURCHASE PLAN FOR FARMS

Calgary, June 29.—Officials of the United Farmers of Canada discussed the recently organized United Farmers of Alberta Central Co-operative Association, formed for the purpose of purchasing staple farm supplies for its members. To-day the officials continued their discussions in Edmonton to decide methods concerning the new scheme.

During the last year the U.F.A. has been purchasing farm supplies, including fuel, oil and grease, binder twine, fence posts and gasoline and reselling to its members.

The discussions under way are for the purpose of forming the province into districts, with a special board for each area. In some cases this has been accomplished, but it is planned to form a United Farmer Central Co-operative Association to be the central body and purchasing agent for all the various district co-operatives.

REFERENDUM IN IRELAND URGED

Canadian Press
Dublin, June 29.—A referendum, in which the people of the Irish Free State would be asked whether they wished to form part of the British Commonwealth of Nations, is asked in a motion tabled in the Dail Eireann yesterday by Frank MacDermot, Republican, and seconded by Sean MacEoin.

The motion will be discussed by the Dail on Friday. It asks the executive council to take the necessary legislative and administrative steps for such a referendum.

U.S. FARMERS TO VISIT MANITOBA

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, June 29.—Manitoba will be host to 150 expert farmers from the states of North and South Dakota and Minnesota July 5, when the Northwest Farm Managers' Association will tour the province. The members of the association make a tour each year, but this will be the first year they have visited Canada.

The visitors will inspect leading grain and stock farms in Manitoba, and will be entertained by representatives of the Manitoba and Dominion Departments of Agriculture, municipal authorities and business organizations.

NEW CABINET IN NEWFOUNDLAND

Men Chosen By Premier
Alderdice Take Portfolios

Canadian Press
St. John's, Nfld., June 29.—The new government of Newfoundland, formed by Hon. F. C. Alderdice, who was sworn into office yesterday evening as Prime Minister and Minister of Finance and Customs, was completed to-day so far as it may be until a session of the Legislature is held. The cabinet, as announced by Premier Alderdice to-day, is as follows:

Hon. F. C. Alderdice, Prime Minister and Minister of Finance and Customs.
Hon. J. C. Puddister, Secretary of State.

Hon. L. E. Emerson, Minister of Justice.
Hon. H. W. Quinton, Minister of Public Works.
Hon. William C. Winsor, Minister of Ports and Telegraphs.

Hon. William J. Walsh, Minister of Lands and Fisheries.
It is understood the departments of land and fisheries will be subdivided at the next session of the Legislature, making two portfolios, agriculture and mines, and marine and fisheries, with John Stone mentioned as minister of the latter department.

REFERENDUM PLAN
In his pre-election manifesto, Mr. Alderdice promised to appoint a committee to inquire into the feasibility of governing the country by commission for a period of years, the committee's report to be submitted to the electors in a referendum. Just when this matter will be considered is problematical, but it is understood it will be one of the first major questions to come before the new cabinet.

Canadian Press
Port of Spain, Trinidad, June 29.—A new source of helium gas has been discovered in swamp lands near here.

PEACE MOVE IN NICARAGUA

NEW RELIEF PLAN IN CALIFORNIA

Associated Press
San Francisco, June 29.—Governor James Rolph yesterday evening announced the institution of a five-day week in all state departments, amounting to a 14% per cent reduction in salary and an annual saving to the state of $4,000,000.

The five-day week will become effective July 1.

The governor said the $4,000,000 saving would amount to an actual saving in cash of $1,500,000 annually from the pay roll of the general fund and $2,500,000 from the special fund pay roll. The latter amount would be used in the employment of "several thousand persons for highway construction and other state projects."

"No employee receiving $100 a month or less is to be affected," the governor said. "No employee will lose his or her position by reason of this measure. We are maintaining salary scales throughout."

It is generally believed that only one of Christ's apostles, John, escaped martyrdom.

HIGHER RAILWAY EARNINGS

SEVERAL YEARS AGO—IT SEEMS A long time now—our public men and business leaders pointed to railway earnings as the best indication that Canada was gradually emerging from the slump which followed in the wake of the hectic prosperity of the immediate post-war years. Now again comes the first sign in this direction of better times by way of a statement from the head office of the Canadian National Railways to the effect that, in spite of a falling off in the gross receipts, the month of May was notable for a showing of a net revenue, after the payment of operating expenses, of no less than $731,794, an increase of $291,105, or sixty per cent as compared with the corresponding month of last year.

The statement shows that operating expenses have been reduced by $4,209,378 as compared with May, 1931. The full effects of the economies applied by the management and the board of directors during the last two years in order to cope with the general business situation are perhaps more strikingly illustrated in the May earnings than in any other month to date. The operating expenses of the system in the year 1931 as compared with 1932 were reduced by $26,000,000, and the operating expenses in 1932 will, it is believed, be $50,000,000 under the 1931 operating expenses. It is to be noted also that while the total gross revenues of the system for the first five months of the present year show a decrease as compared with 1931—due entirely to trade shrinkage and consequent reduced demand for services—of a little more than $15,000,000, economies in operating expenses have amounted to practically the same sum.

In the neighboring republic and in the Old World railways have been going through very difficult times. The Canadian National has been hit with the rest of them. It could not be otherwise. When Canada's external trade was worth more than $2,500,000,000 the nationally-owned system was doing very well indeed, cutting down the deficits on its top-heavy and unfair capitalization by substantial amounts. With that trade cut in half, however, the situation naturally is different. But the railway is not to blame for that. Nor will a too rigid economy in services be profitable in the long run. The C.N.R. is an asset of great value and it will increase in value only as it is carefully operated to give efficient service.

WHY?

FOR YEARS SEAPLANES HAVE BEEN operating in and out of Victoria Harbor. Last year two air transportation companies used the inner harbor for terminal purposes. Last year, also, there was more surface shipping operated in the harbor than there ever was before. Besides the C.P.R. ships there were the big vessels of the Canadian National Railways; while the Puget Sound Company was running both its regular service to Port Angeles and Seattle and its tourist ferry boat. And there has not been a solitary collision between an airship and surface ship.

We apologize to our readers for mentioning so obvious a matter, since a collision between a ship which operates in the air and one whose operations are confined to the water would be the eighth wonder of the world. It is conceivable, of course, that if the pilot of the seaplane were blind there might be a possibility of such an accident provided he did not miss the harbor altogether, but in no other circumstances it is possible for anybody who is not an infant in arms to visualize a clash between an airship whose navigator can see every moving thing on the water miles away and who can manoeuvre his little craft in a duck pond, and a surface vessel.

In the light of the actual record, therefore, and the extreme unlikelihood of such a miracle as a collision between an airship and surface shipping, we prayerfully urge the federal authorities and the other interests which do not want Victoria Harbor to be used by air craft to cut out the comedy and give us the real reasons for their opposition. If it is because there is something peculiarly disturbing to the peace of mind of residents on the harbor shore in the noise of seaplanes on the water; a quality of discord harsher than the noise of planes operating in the air—which, alas, can not be prohibited—or the infinitely louder row of motorcycles operating on the streets, or the screeching of tug-boat whistles, or the racket made by little racing motor boats—why not say so? Why should not Mr. Plunkett be the crusader for a noiseless harbor and waterfront—also a stenchless one—serenely sound-proof, in fact quite dead?

If, however, it is not because of the noise seaplanes make in their momentary activities on the water, but rather because they compete with the passenger business of surface ships, that the harbor should be denied to them, why not come out in the open and say so? That at least would be an excuse that everybody could understand, even if everybody could not appreciate the force of it. It also would have the merit of honesty, which the collision pretext so obviously lacks in the face of the record of what actually has happened.

There may be, of course, another reason, which some wicked outsiders would say is characteristic of Victoria, and that is that aerial navigation, being comparatively new, should be made difficult around here on general principles; that we should be kept safely sheltered from such disturbing innovations; that while we have been unable to keep automobiles, motorcycles and other noxious nuisances off our streets, we can, by the grace of the Dominion government and its apostle Mr. Plunkett, keep our harbor inviolate against anything that flies except the majestic—and at times more promiscuous and therefore more menacing—sea-gull.

If these be the real reasons actuating the opposition to the use of Victoria Harbor by seaplanes, they ought to be definitely stated. If there are any others they ought to be frankly made known. But, for goodness sake, spare us that weird pipe-dream about the danger of a collision between these little mobile craft and surface shipping.

BEAVERBROOK'S "PROMISE"

SINCE LORD BEAVERBROOK CAST himself for the role of director-general in Great Britain's political realm he has contributed a great deal to the gaiety of public life over there. He has had many fads and fancies and nobody is very sure about what he is going to say or do next. His latest outburst has been directed at Mr. Baldwin. He plainly tells the former Prime Minister that unless he succeeds in securing the adoption at the forthcoming Imperial Economic Conference of "empire free trade," he will be sunk practically without trace as far as his political life is concerned. To make sure that his warning shall be pointed enough, the doughty peer says this is "not a threat but a promise." Mr. Baldwin must take heed or take the consequences.

It is an old story, of course, that there is no love lost between our own Lord Beaverbrook and Mr. Baldwin. Wittingly or unwittingly, they seem to rub one another the wrong way. But it is hardly likely that the benign gentleman from the Midlands will be any more disturbed by this latest outburst than he has been by those which have gone before. All the politicians of Great Britain, irrespective of their party label, know that Mr. Baldwin or any other delegate to the Ottawa gathering has about as much chance of securing the adoption of "empire free trade" as it would be—as of establishing a bus service to the North Pole. Has Lord Beaverbrook forgotten that there are certain interests in Canada that will not permit the present government at Ottawa to cut the tariff on many of the products which Great Britain wants to sell to this Dominion and which are in competition with the products of our own factories?

Instead of threatening Mr. Baldwin with dire consequences if he fails to achieve what at present is practically impossible, Lord Beaverbrook might have consulted Mr. Bennett, with whom he is in close touch and with whom he is on friendly terms. Perhaps he has done so and wants to put an impossible task up to his ancient enemy. There is good ground for the suspicion that Beaverbrook would rather have Mr. Baldwin's scalp than empire free trade.

AN IMPARTIAL VIEW

"The building up of industrial prosperity by means of tariff barriers is an old dream of Mr. de Valera's. A quarrel with its best customer, now armed with the authority to make tariffs, is a curiously unwise policy for the Free State to adopt. Sancho Panza may tire of Don Quixote."—The New York Times, discussing what it describes as "the Irish impasse."

R. T. HON. J. H. THOMAS STATED IN the House of Commons last week that Great Britain would make no other agreements with the Irish Free State either at Ottawa or anywhere else as long as the De Valera government persisted in its present attitude. As the Ottawa conference draws nearer, The New York Times notes in its impartial view of the circumstances, "this British attitude might give pause to a statesman less unyielding than the President of the Free State Executive Council." He has yielded a little in respect of the land annuities by his acceptance of "the principle," a diplomatic formula which may be followed by the smoothing out of the details.

Our contemporary suggests that Mr. de Valera's own position, like that of the dispute, may be growing worse. The budget, with its steep taxation and its smashing new tariff duties on about everything that can be manufactured in the Free State, says The Times, has stirred the wrath of manufacturers and the small storekeepers. If some concessions were offered to farmers, higher costs of production and living must be the inevitable effect. It makes no difference, moreover, whether land annuities go to Dublin or to London; and those farmers who have acted as if no further annuities would have to be paid at all know differently now.

Until the Ottawa conference begins, the attitude which the delegates of the other dominions will adopt toward the Irish Free State will not be known. We can imagine a somewhat uncomfortable atmosphere if, assuming Mr. de Valera remains obdurate, Mr. Thomas repeats what he said the other day in the House of Commons at Westminster. The quarrel, of course, is political between Great Britain and the Free State. Neither Canada nor any other part of the empire has anything more than an academic interest in it. The gathering has been called to study economics. It is for each dominion to put its own value on the signature on any agreement it negotiates there.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

FISCAL POLICY
 The Manitoba Free Press

The Imperial Economic Conference affords an opportunity to the forces that are in favor of wider markets and freer trade to challenge the whole conception of protection embodied in the principles defined by the leaders in the textile industry. All the interests that have to find a market abroad for their surplus production, which includes all the primary and many of the secondary producers, would be justified in seeing a little red at this suave assertion that the cotton industry has the right to operate at a profit even though this may add to their burdens, already too heavy to be borne. These interests are seeking enlarged markets in other British countries; they know that not only can they not get these enlarged markets, but they cannot hold the markets they have if they do not make it possible for British imports to come into the Canadian market in larger volume. This is not possible while Ottawa remains firmly attached to the policy of reserving large sections of the Canadian market for home manufacturers regardless of such matters as competitive prices. The disagreement between the cotton interests of Canada and Great Britain raises this issue sharply; and the Canadian government will have to decide anew where it stands. If it adheres to what has hitherto been one of its profoundest convictions, the conference, so far as Canada is concerned, cannot but end in failure.

THE FRIENDLY HELP ASSOCIATION

To the Editor:—I have been requested by our board of management to write you regarding the work of this association. As there have been so many rumors concerning the discontinuance of the Friendly Help Association they deemed it advisable to inform our friends that there is no truth in this statement, and that we are still carrying on as formerly. Although the city has opened an office for relief, the demands on our resources are increasing. We are daily receiving requests for assistance, especially for milk for undernourished children and clothing and shoes for school children, and for men who have prospects of work but no suitable clothing.

I quote hereunder a paragraph from one of many letters received recently: "I don't expect you remember me but in the spring of 1908 your society was good enough to get my carpenter tools out of pawn for me as I had a job to go to. You were so kind to me at that time. I have lived in B.C. ever since, doing fairly well, but nothing startling. I appreciate what you did for me."

I feel sure you will agree that an association that has carried on a work such as the Friendly Help Association for the past thirty-seven years deserves continued support and co-operation. FRIENDLY HELP ASSOCIATION. Florence Murray, secretary-treasurer, Market Building, Victoria, B.C., June 28, 1932.

"BASIC CAUSES OF DEPRESSION"

To the Editor:—1. Late war, totally eliminating by killing 9,998,771 high grade consumers and wounding 20,255,551, costing $337,946,179,657, resulting in enormous subsequent taxation for pensions.

2. Substitution of labor saving machinery for human effort, plus unnatural practice of birth control, diminishing consumption, now and in future.

3. Avariciousness of capital, coupled with unreasonable labor, plus exploiting of public in stock gambling.

4. Substitution of water for steam power production.

5. Instinctual plan of purchasing.

6. Pawnshop policy of governments, negotiating loans with aliens at high rates of interest, increasing taxation, enormously curtailing money in business circulation.

7. Capacity to produce too much by reason of item two.

8. Cold and other storage of all commodities, clandestine in order to keep up prices and keep public in dark, a boomerang operation.

9. Ignorance of general world conditions by constituents.

10. Too early retirements with pensions in all public administrations, in all so-called high standard of living countries, practically keeping up duplication of staffs, increasing the burden of taxation enormously. Readjustment is due, comparable with reduction in cost of living and increasing longevity.

11. Lower standard of living conditions in formerly considered more remote countries, with enormous primary commodities—productions at less than half of the cost of high standard living facilities (now largely dormant) of wonderful mobility, creates a problem of a magnitude undreamt of a few years ago. This points to broad internationalism as opposed to nationalism to free trade viewed from a commercial standpoint more in favor of the lower standard of living countries, but if it is a sound doctrine to assert that the world at large should have the advantage of a good living and enjoy the seasonal and other natural advantages of diversified conditions with the least possible effort, and at the same time accomplish our greatest need, "the opportunity of our unemployed to earn the money required to buy the good living requirements, with increased leisure for everyone everywhere. Then shorter hours of labor in the panacea, coupled with a policy of progressive freer, rather than restricted trade, instead of the spectacle of exhaustion of the fertility of the soil, of the world by gross overproduction.

There are pleas that depression is due to there not being sufficient gold in circulation, or that it is due to an improper distribution of it, an undue proportion being in the hands of France and the United States, and that monetization of silver would stimulate trade and commerce.

The first plea is perhaps 50 per cent true, discounted by the fact that 75 per cent, or in some cases, such as copper, 80 per cent of gold will now buy 100 per cent of copper.

The plea for silver has this merit, that it would mean a considerable increase in employment at once, providing that an international agreement, as in the case of copper, could be arranged to restrict production to need, with a varying price ratio to cost of production, another instance of the need for internationalism.

Otherwise we can drift into self-contained free trade empires or countries with tariffs so high against other countries that we shut them out entirely. Or, on the other hand, another view of the effect of doing that will be that the preference given our own people will prove a boon to our competitors, inasmuch as with cheaper production costs and more natural conditions, they can easily pay the tariff out of the increased price they get due to the tariff. Is this an overlooked boomerang effect?

The price level shibboleth is dead as Julius Caesar. Let us ask ourselves, why should we raise the price of anything and particularly of wheat, the staff of life?

It is submitted that we are in a fair way to readjustment after stewing in our own juice for a time. Gold mining and prospecting for it are still active. That proportion of any community with a manly spirit with any knowledge of agriculture are gradually getting back to the land.

The six-hour day and five-day week are quite popular at remunerations more conformable to the cost of living. We must have patience.

The thing lacking is more political consideration for the farmer, for at present he is in the position of giving about one week's work for one day's work of an industrialist bricklayer, plasterer, plumber, etc., but he has some compensations, a year's steady work ahead of him, perhaps a little autumn and spring work, in late autumn and spring, unless he happens to be a dairyman. All of them independent, sure of shelter, enough of the best to eat and the most healthy occupation of all.

(From The Times Files)

Preparations for the reopening of the Lenora copper mines and Mount Sicker Railway are now well under way, and it is expected that the first ore will be taken out by the Vancouver Copper Company, the big English Company which has acquired the mine, early in the fall.

Weather Forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Moderate to fresh southerly winds, partly cloudy, with showers to-night or on Sunday.

The Victoria Intermediate lacrosse team leaves this city to-morrow morning to play against the Vancouver intermediates on Monday afternoon. The local team has done very good practice work, and their trainer, Bob Foster, who accompanies them to Vancouver, has every reason to congratulate himself upon the fine form and condition of his men.

The Victoria Cricket Club eleven left on the steamer Princess Victoria this morning for Vancouver. This afternoon they are playing the Burrard Cricket Club, and over Dominion Day they will play the Vancouver Cricket Club.

The second annual rose show, which was held yesterday afternoon and evening in the Assembly Hall on Fort Street, proved a great success. Everyone was delighted with the highly artistic effect of the decorations, the arrangement of the trailing vines of ivy from the huge Australian tree fern drew forth great praise from the visitors to the exhibition. The Oakland Nurseries in the professional class made a clean sweep in the prize list.

Two Campaigns For Manitoba Polling

Winnipeg, June 29.—Political forces of Manitoba converged on two north-land constituencies to-day for fire shots in the final battles of the general election. People of Rupert's Land and The Pas will go to the polls, July 14, to elect members of the next Legislature, which already has reservations for thirty-six government members. Ten Conservatives, five Liberals and two Independents.

Though he is assured a sufficient following in the House to carry on government with ease, Premier John Bracken is directly interested in the deferred elections. They are important to the administration because the Premier himself is running in The Pas and Hon. Ewan Macpherson, Provincial Treasurer, in Rupert's land.

All-night Battle Set For To-morrow

Mainland Units Transported Across on Canadian Navy Boats Will Try to Effect Landing on Southern Section of Vancouver Island; Victoria and Duncan Forces to Defend; Military Manoeuvres Here Will Continue Until Sunday

The annual military and naval manoeuvres in which Vancouver Island units will defend the Island from the attacks of Mainland units will commence to-morrow night, when the attacking forces of the Mainland, in charge of Col. W. W. Foster, officer commanding the 2nd Infantry Brigade of Vancouver, will try to effect a landing on the southern section of the Island. It is expected the landing may not be effected until the morning. The manoeuvres will continue till Sunday.

The Esquimalt defences will be manned by Victoria and Duncan units in command of Lieut.-Col. Roy Sargant, officer commanding the 2nd Battalion, Canadian Scottish Regiment. The attackers will be brought to the scene of battle by H.M.C.S. Skeena, H.M.C.S. Vancouver and H.M.C.S. Armentieres, the warships conveying the troops to some as yet unknown point from which the Esquimalt fortresses will be attacked during the all-night engagement.

The scene of the all-night engagement to-morrow is being kept strictly secret by military officials. The manoeuvres will be in charge of Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown, C.M.G., D.S.O., M.C., officer commanding Military District No. 11, and his staff.

Nearly 800 Mainland troops will form the attacking party, while the defences will be manned by 500 troops of the Island units. A number of umpires selected from the various units will assist the brigadier and his staff in staging the operations. The Island forces will go into position to-morrow afternoon.

On Friday afternoon the senior officers will participate in a tactical scheme without troops. On the same afternoon and all day Saturday, all troops and junior officers will be engaged in carrying out platoon and company competitions for Infantry Association Cup.

CHURCH SERVICES
At 8 o'clock on Sunday morning, Protestant and Roman Catholic divine services will be held, followed by a general review and inspection by the brigadier and his staff. The Mainland troops will embark for home at 2 p.m.

Following to-morrow night's operations, all troops will be under canvas at Heat's Rifle Range, where tents will be pitched by the permanent forces for the non-permanent camp.

During the period under canvas, schemes will be designed for training artillermen, engineers and signers in a similar manner. Tactical exercises will be commenced ashore Friday morning.

During the camp, the Canadian Scottish officers will have their own mess, while Military District No. 11 will supply the mess for the Mainland officers.

Among the Island units which will form the defending party will be the 1st and 2nd Battalions of the 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment, the 12th Heavy and 58th Field Batteries, and the 62nd Battery, fully horsed, of Duncan, which will march down to the scene of activities early to-morrow. The 38th Field Ambulance battery, "A" company of the 11th Machine Gun Corps, the 17th Fortress Company and the Fortress Signal Company, will also defend.

The attacking forces will include the 2nd Infantry Brigade of Vancouver, with the following regiments: B.C. Regiment, Westminster Regiment, regiment of the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, a regiment of the Irish Fusiliers of Canada, and the Vancouver Regiment, supported by the 15th Artillery Brigade, under Lieutenant-Colonel Perry; a detachment of the B.C. Light Horse Artillery, the 11th Machine Gun Corps, the 11th Divisional Train, the 17th Field Ambulance, the C.O.T.C. (of the University of British Columbia), and the 6th Field Company of the Canadian Engineers.

PLANES TO TAKE PART
A number of airplanes of the Royal Canadian Air Force detachment at Vancouver, will also take part. All outside platoons of the 2nd Battalion of the Canadian Scottish will reach the city by bus in time for the arranging of the defending forces.

MOUNTAIN LIONS INVADE FARMS

Emboldened They Kill and Feed on Sheep in Metchosin

Farmers Sit Up With Guns to Ward Off Attacks

Hot weather is making the mountain lions bold and blood-thirsty. They are again descending from the wooded fastnesses of the high interior hills.

During the last few days these animals have been paying regular visits to the sheep herds in the Metchosin district, and making their daily meals on lambs and sheep. Half a dozen farms have already been visited by the marauders, leaving behind them a trail of slaughtered domestic animals.

Farmers of the district have appealed to the Provincial Government to rush trained cougar hunters to the district.

Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, explained that $5,000 was appropriated in the estimates this year for the services of three expert cougar hunters to safeguard outlying farms in districts liable to be descended upon by mountain lions. Two of these cougar hunters have been placed on the mainland and one of the Island.

Until the cougar hunters arrive in the Metchosin district and start operations, farmers there are spending their nights sitting up with their rifles ready to fight off mountain lion invasion.

Mr. Jones said that the three expert cougar hunters were appointed in place of the government's former policy of paying a bounty on cougars. The hunters operate under Provincial Game Commission J. J. Bryan Williams, to whom application by settlers for their protection must be made. The cougar hunters, besides being equipped with proper hunting rifles, also have packs of specially trained cougar dogs.

The Dominion Day celebration committee's activities on Dominion Day will wind up with a frolic and dance at the Crystal Garden, where, from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m., hundreds of people will dance to the strains of Fred Pitt's Crystal Garden orchestra.

Many novel features have been arranged for and Violet Fowkes's group of dancers will entertain the patrons. Merle North, well-known local singer, will render songs suitable to the occasion, and Stanley James, local comedian, and his group, will provide comedy.

The Crystal Garden swimming pool will be open as usual on Dominion Day from 9 a.m. until 11 p.m., and a very large number of visitors is expected. The dance and cabaret entertainment being held at the Crystal Garden is under the official auspices of the Dominion Day celebration committee.

Government Wins Scottish By-election
Canadian Press.
Montrose, Scotland, June 29.—With a greatly reduced majority the National Government retained the Montrose seat in the by-election necessitated by the elevation of Sir Robert Hutchison, National Liberal, to the peerage.

The results of the polling yesterday, announced to-day, gave 7,963 votes to Col. Charles Kerr, National Liberal, supported by both Conservatives and Liberals, and 7,300 votes to Tom Kennedy, Labor, who was chief whip for the former Labor government.

The majority of 663 votes contrasted with the majority of 12,075 in a larger poll for Sir Robert Hutchison in the last general election.

What brilliance! What Beauty!
this thrift dentifrice brings to teeth

Do you want teeth that you can be proud of... that are the envy of others?
Do you want teeth that are sound and healthy?
Do you want your mouth to feel refreshed and invigorated... your breath to be sweet and agreeable?
If so, switch to Listerine Tooth Paste, the modern dentifrice, at the common sense price of 25 cents.

This tooth paste has supplanted older and costlier favorites in the esteem of both men and women. Not because of the price—which saves you approximately $3.00 a year—but because of the quick, satisfying results it achieves.

When we created Listerine Tooth Paste, we realized that it must be superior in order to win users in a field already overcrowded with good dentifrices. We ask you to try a tube and judge whether or not we have succeeded.

Listerine Tooth Paste contains special and modern cleansing and polishing agents. Dissolved in saliva they reach front and back, and penetrate between the teeth, erasing tartar, tobacco stains, and discolorations. After a few brushings, your teeth assume a new brilliance and luster that you welcome. Your gums feel firm and healthy. Your mouth has a continual sensation of cleanliness. As you realize that at last you've found a tooth paste that really does something for you.

And remember, for these benefits, you are paying about half of what you would ordinarily pay. That we can offer a product of the quality of Listerine Tooth Paste at 25¢, is due to three factors: (1). The ability to buy raw material on a large scale and hence at a lower price. (2). The ability of cutting manufacturing cost by means of modern machinery. (3). The equipment to distribute the finished product at a low price. All these economies are passed on to you in this dentifrice so worthy of the Listerine name. Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, Toronto, Ont.

NOTED SPEAKER AT PRESS CLUB

Miss Mary McGeachy of Geneva Addresses Calgary Convention

Journalism Most Satisfying of All Occupations, Says President

Calgary, June 29 (Canadian Press).—Topics close to the press woman were under discussion today at the second day of the Canadian Women's Press Club triennial convention. Yesterday's sessions were wound up with an old-timer's display given at a dinner held by the city of Calgary in honor of the visiting women writers.

The guests witnessed the dancing of old western dances, and several songs of the early west were sung. Mrs. Margaret E. Lawrence, of St. John, N.B., president of the organization, delivered a brief address.

On to-day's agenda were addresses by several prominent writers in the Dominion and United States. Miss Winnifred Lee of Vancouver spoke on "The Women's Page," and Miss E. Price of Calgary on "Markets and Syndicates." Miss Mary Craig McGeachy, of the League of Nations staff, Geneva, addressed the delegates on "International Press Service." Two other noted women writers, Mrs. R. W. McChung, Calgary, and Miss Edna Griffiths of New York, delivered interesting addresses.

The former's topic being "Women Novelists" and the latter's "Feature Articles and the Editor's Dilemma." An interesting address by Mrs. Florence Randall Lively of Toronto pictured the "Cultural Background of Ukraine." Her songs and story, "Poetry of Ukraine" was read by Mrs. Lively from her own translation. She urged the delegates to seek knowledge of the Ukrainian poetry and song, pointing out that there were several thousand of these people in Canada. Mrs. Lively described her work among the Ukrainian people.

JOURNALISM SATISFYING Newspaper work is the most satisfying of all employments, and is the greatest training school in the world, Mrs. Margaret E. Lawrence of St. John, N.B., told delegates to the Canadian Women's Press Club triennial convention in her presidential address yesterday.

After discussing the constitution of the press, Mrs. Lawrence concluded her address by reviewing the accomplishments and aims of Canadian newspapers. "The protection of both personal and professional idealism," she said, "should always be one aim of the press which ever should remember the vital need for promotion of national sentiment in a country so far flung as Canada. Just how to exert its influence in this direction was the most pressing question confronting the Women's Press Club, she said."

"An Address on Publicity" was given by Mrs. Mabel Crews Ringland of the Toronto branch. Publicity, she said, was a field little explored, and presented a wide range of possibilities to a woman of journalistic experience, newspaper work, writing of articles and booklets, broadcasting and lecturing.

LONDON WRITER Comparison of British and Canadian newspaper women was made by Miss Ruth Rogers, of the London, England, Daily Express. Aside from the fact that British women did not occupy "such specialized places in the newspaper world," Miss Rogers thought women in both fields were much the same. British women, she thought, however, lacked the same educational facilities as Canadians.

"Special Fields" in the journalistic world were discussed by Mrs. Miriam G. Ellis of Winnipeg, who reviewed her own particular line as an agricultural writer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McLoughlin and family of Desford Avenue are in Vancouver visiting Mrs. McLoughlin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Salebury. Mr. McLoughlin expects to leave in July for Great Britain, and Mrs. McLoughlin and family will remain with her parents during his absence abroad.

Mrs. H. H. Stevens, wife of the Minister of Trade and Commerce, with her three children, Sylvia, Patricia and Douglas, has arrived in Vancouver from Ottawa. They traveled over C.P.R. in a private car attached to train No. 1.

Miss K. Stockton of Calgary, who is attending the Strathcona Lodge School for Girls, is spending a few days in Victoria with Miss Elizabeth Edwards, daughter of Major and Mrs. G. D. Edwards, Island Road, Oak Bay. Miss Stockton will leave at the week-end for her home in Alberta.

Dr. and Mrs. Crawford McCulloch, Port William, Ont., were the guests over the week-end of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. McTavish, 733 Lamson Street. Dr. McCulloch, a former international president of Rotarians, was a delegate at the recent Rotary convention in Seattle, and had previously been to Honolulu to round up the island delegates. Mrs. McCulloch is a cousin of Mr. McTavish.

A surprise party was held on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Sloan in honor of Mrs. Sloan's birthday. During the evening she was presented with a handsome china set from her family. Music and games were greatly enjoyed by all. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. Sloan, Mr. and Mrs. H. Sloan, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sloan, Mr. and Mrs. W. Sloan, Mr. and Mrs. R. Will Make No Representations to U.S. on Violet Sharpe's Death

Associated Press
London, June 29.—There will be no representations by the British government to the United States in connection with the death of Violet Sharpe. The Common Law Society, which is the legal body representing the British government, said today.

Capt. A. Eden, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said the Consul-General at New York, Gerald Campbell, had reported on the death of the servant girl, who committed suicide in Mrs. Dwight Morrow's home at Englewood, N.J., after questioning by police in connection with the abduction of the Lindbergh baby.

"Having regard to all the circumstances in this case," he said, "there would appear to be no grounds which would warrant representations to the United States government."

The Consul-General was satisfied there was no physical violence or "so-called third degree methods" employed by the police in their questioning, he said, and that the girl was not questioned "under conditions of severe physical duress induced by lack of sleep or want of food."

The Consul-General reported the girl appeared to fear further questioning and that she had been taken away from the police in a state of confusion. He said further mis-statements she had made in the earlier examination. These discrepancies so affected her that she took her own life.

Glorifying Yourself

By ALICIA HART

NECK WILL GIVE YOU A HEAD START TOWARD BEAUTY

Women need to be told to powder their necks just as much as small boys need to be told to wash theirs. There are just as many feminine necks around that are shaded darker than the cheeks above them as there are boys' necks that show where the washing stopped.

Neck have a habit of growing old before faces do. The darker the neck, the more it is a sign of age. It is necessary to be more lavish in the use of powder to make it appear youthful.

Necks require nourishing creams. They have to be fed, stimulated, coaxed, if they are going to stay slim and youthful. Then, remove it with another brush. Don't let anyone know the artificial that you have been practicing. Your skin will retain enough of the cream to keep it soft and supple.

Fattening helps the neck, too. There are patterns on the market which will help you to stimulate the blood current. Or the back of your head may act as a substitute, if you prefer.

Do not let your neck grow fat. Hold it straight. Pretend that you have a book on your head. If you let your chin sag it will fall to the ground. Practice this method until you hold your neck as a slim, straight column.

No neck which has rolls of fat can be beautiful. Sometimes the act of reducing makes a plump neck, which is firm and straight, slightly because of the exercise in which you indulge. Because of this, any dieting or strenuous exercise in which you indulge should be performed under the advice of a medical authority. Likewise, other parts of the body may suffer from a health as well as a beauty angle if reduction is not suited to your needs.

Be careful not to push your head forward as you walk. It not only makes you appear to be too eager to get where you are going, but it makes your neck ugly. There is nothing graceful or regal about it. Hold your head as though you are going to meet life and are excited at the thought, but are not breaking your neck to get there.

NURSE SUING
AIMEE'S HUSBY

The old song, "Over the Hill to the Poor House," bears no relation to this home: most of the residents are paying guests, the others are paid for by the city, but all are treated alike.

"Youth may die, age must die," I remembered hearing that and it struck me forcibly this afternoon. In old age the sting of death loses its potency and it seems to come naturally and easily.

The origin of the home is so well known it is hardly necessary to mention it. To Mrs. Harriet Carr, Mrs. I. A. Gould, and Mrs. Lawrence Goodson goes the credit for its origin and with it, the appreciation of all Victorians.

At the moment he shows definite signs of fatigue, take his spoon away and finish the feeding. We want the baby to enjoy feeding himself, and it is better to stop just this side of boredom than to risk sickening him of the duty.

It is sometimes more convenient for the mother to give the child every other spoonful herself, thus showing him a constant example of exactly how to feed himself, and also managing to get through before baby is worn out.

Port Arthur, Ont., June 29.—Mrs. Isaac Opas of Rosport had an unwelcome visitor to-day when a bear climbed to the roof of her home and began to tear off the roofing paper. He also tried to enter the house through a broken window, but was frightened off by the cries of the woman and her infant son. Settlers in the Hurkett district also have their troubles with animals. Deer are so numerous they are a menace to gardens.

A Visit to the Aged and Infirm Women's Home—Impressions Received—Age Is Youth Projected Ahead Several Decades—That and the Infirmities It Brings With It Are the Only Differences

Dear Mimi:—If I am energetic enough to walk to or from town, I usually pass the "Aged and Infirm Women's Home." Often from the playing on the grass as I walked up the stairs to the veranda or at the windows, watching with interest the passing shows—cars passing in the street, people walking, or the activity around the hospital just across the road. There they sat, and, although from the street their features were indistinct, their age was evident from certain unmistakable earmarks: woolen shawls wrapped over their shoulders, a relentless stoop or a faltering step. I had noticed them there and had made conjectures about their attitude toward life.

In a detached sort of way I had wondered what philosophy of life they had gained and how they chose to conduct their lives in this world, knowing that they were just on the threshold of the next.

So I decided to visit the home—and did this afternoon. I noticed the well-kept garden with several hoes playing on the grass as I walked up the short walk from the gate. On the veranda over the front door I noticed three or four of the inmates sitting comfortably in the shade, and inside the building the atmosphere of austerity that one instinctively associates with institutions was missing altogether.

I arrived just at tea time and felt a sense of bustle in the air, as if of business on hand. This was explained by the fact that the ladies were looking forward to their tea, and were very concerned about getting it. I do not know just how I had expected a lot of aged women to act, certainly had I thought about it I would have been prepared to expect a hearty but to see them in the halls with their cups in their hands waiting so eagerly for their afternoon tea seemed incongruous.

These women who have lived their lives (several are over ninety years old), who have experienced most human emotions and many of its tragedies, who have learned the knowledge that a long span of life teaches, in the end to have a cup of tea loomed so large in their sight, even to the point of being querulous if it was delayed, that was rather enlightening.

Ninety years is a long time to spend in learning the business of life. In any other line of pursuit, ninety years would surely be enough to give us a clear insight and a complete comprehension of it, but life keeps its secret well.

Project the atmosphere of a boarding school ahead fifty or sixty years and you have the atmosphere of the "Home."

Mrs. Amelia Whittier, the secretary, showed me over the building from top to bottom. This home is, by the way, self-supporting. That in itself is surprising evidence of the efficiency of its directors and management. We went through a comfortable, cheery dining-room to a spotlessly clean kitchen, from which issued the delicious smell of strawberries cooking. The very able matron, Miss Ann Robb, was making jam for the winter. The cook was doing a cake and another was buttering bread for tea. From there we went to the basement, the laundry room, a fruit room containing rows upon rows of shelves holding large jars of preserved fruit, a vegetable room where another attendant was preparing new carrots and potatoes for dinner; then up stairs, and into the room of the inmates has donated to the home, and also I saw some of the bedrooms. They were bright and comfortable; every nook and corner bespoke good management.

The old song, "Over the Hill to the Poor House," bears no relation to this home: most of the residents are paying guests, the others are paid for by the city, but all are treated alike.

"Youth may die, age must die," I remembered hearing that and it struck me forcibly this afternoon. In old age the sting of death loses its potency and it seems to come naturally and easily.

SCHOOLS SHOW
PUPILS' WORK

Quadra and North Ward Schools' Domestic Science Classes in Display

Before an appreciative audience of parents and friends, the annual display of domestic science work of the pupils of Quadra and North Ward schools was held recently at North Ward centre.

A short programme followed the inspection of work. Principal Muncy of North Ward School welcomed the visitors and this was followed by two folk dances under the direction of Miss McNeill, Miss Posen at the piano. Miss McLennan, director of home economics for British Columbia, then spoke, emphasizing the value of home economics in the schools and its contribution in training for better citizenship. Just as those who enter the business world require special training to achieve success, so it is necessary to give special training to those who enter life's most important profession—that of home making. This training definitely develops a new interest in commonplace duties of the home, as well as contributes towards health and happiness of its members. In addition, its educational value in habit formation and in developing initiative makes it a worthy subject of a school curriculum, she maintained.

The main feature of the afternoon was the fashion parade. Marching to the strains of soft music provided by Mr. Muncy at the piano, each girl paraded the garment she had made. Special mention was made of the winning class and individual members in the recent Women's Canadian Club competition. The class gaining this honor was Division 3, North Ward School, whose members are Muriel Brown, Verne Barnes, Muriel Strong, Georgina Stuart, Evelyn Fishlock, Norma Hideo Shimizu, Rose Kuwahara, Edith Whittaker, Florence McOuffie, Florence Warren. Individual members receiving special mention are Beattie Hope, Helen Eng, Marilyn Eng and Isabel Walsley, the first two pupils having been among the prize winners.

Audrey Weston, Quadra School, was highly recommended for her excellent work by Miss McLennan.

Principal G. H. Green of Quadra School and School Trustee P. E. George were present at the gathering.

Substantial addition to the fund for sending delegates to the Y.P. convention at Ocean Park and C.O.I.T. and Tuxie representatives to the two Maple Leaf camps resulted from the very enjoyable garden party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, Beach Drive, yesterday afternoon. The affair was arranged by the Young People's Society of the First United Church, and Mrs. J. H. Fletcher, Mrs. W. G. Wilson, Mrs. E. S. Parr and Mrs. Mayhew acted as patronesses.

George Gordon, the president, acted as general convenor, ably assisted by Wilson Billingsley and William Gibson. Miss Olive Heritage and Martin Storch received guests, and corsage bouquets were presented to Mrs. Mayhew, Mrs. W. G. Wilson and Mrs. Logan by Mrs. E. S. Parr.

Tea was served on the lawn under the direction of Miss Jean Menzies and Miss Georgina McKay. A home-cooked table was in charge of Miss Agnes Dell and Miss I. Gibson, assisted by members of the Volunteers and Metectors. Candy was sold by Miss Velma Nute and Miss M. Codd, assisted by members of the Axioms, while a fish pond, managed by Miss Mary Wallace and Wilson Billingsley, caused much merriment.

Fortune telling by Miss Lillian Robinson of the Pas-a-Pas, proved most popular.

Entertainments for the afternoon included clock golf, in charge of Frank Stevens, who was assisted by members of the Cardinals; tennis, supervised by Miss Mildred Margison and H. Warren, and games directed by Laurence Wallace of the Tuxie. Special contests were superintended by Robert Wallace and Nell Perry. In the evening a bonfire was arranged by Alex Main. A programme organized by Miss Dorothy Morton included a Highland dance by Miss Jessie Pollock, accompanied by Miss Lillian Grant as piper, and Little Jean Marsh danced the hornpipe and the Irish jig.

Lake Hill C.G.I.T. Gives Concert

In the Lake Hill Mission Hall recently a concert was presented by the Canadian Girls in Training and assisting artists. The proceeds will aid in helping to send delegates to the C.G.I.T. camp at Maple Lawn.

The programme opened with the singing of the C.G.I.T. song by the girls. Mr. Pimm delighted the audience with several piano accordion numbers: Lillian Ward and Irene Campbell Jr. played the part of Rebekah and Rachel, an action duet, exceedingly well. Recitations were given by Miss Woods, Jean Shepard and Irene Campbell Jr.; cornet solo by Fred Smith; mouth-organ selections by Charles Warren, and accordion numbers by Mr. Armitage, all being greatly appreciated.

"My Task" was sweetly sung by Marquette Underwood. A happy sing-song by several of the girls was enjoyed.

C. Hadland, superintendent of the Mission Sunday school, spoke a few words, describing camp life means to one fortunate enough to attend, and he also expressed his appreciation of the girls' work, and of their leader, Miss E. Clark.

The "Camp Scene" from the play, "Every Girl," was presented by the girls and their leader, Irene Campbell. It was a splendid announcement for the evening. "Taps" was sung by the C.G.I.T. to close the programme.

SPONGE CAKE FOR SUMMER DESSERT

By SISTER MARY

Of all the cakes suitable, to serve with fruit and ice cream during the summer months, sponge cake in some form is the most popular and satisfactory. Its lightness and tenderness make it desirable for hot weather when heavy, rich cakes pall and its delicacy of flavor is particularly appealing as an accompaniment for fruit flavors.

Children, too, may enjoy this type of cake since it contains no butter to make it too rich and indigestible such as soda or baking powder. Eggs alone are depended on for lightening.

A mild acid in the form of cream of tartar or acetic acid (vinegar) is added for the purpose of stiffening the albumen of the egg whites and to help keep the mixture firm.

If eggs are scarce their number may be decreased and baking powder added for leavening. Although a cake made in this fashion is not a true sponge, there is little difference in the texture of the finished cake.

The choice of ingredients, manner of mixing and temperature of baking are very important factors in making a perfect sponge cake.

Fine granulated sugar does much to produce a fine grained cake. Pastry flour sifted once before measuring should be used.

CHILL EGGS BEFORE BEATING
Three-day eggs will beat better than fresher ones. If the eggs are well chilled before beating they will be stiffer, too.

In mixing the cake, care must be taken that none of the air which has been beaten into the eggs is lost. The ingredients must be thoroughly mixed, but the mixing must be done with a folding movement which does not break the air bubbles. Rough handling when the whites are folded into the batter will make a soggy cake of little volume.

SPONGE CAKE
Six eggs, 1 cup flour, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 3/4 teaspoon cream of tartar, 3 tablespoons boiling water, 1/4 teaspoon vanilla.

Separate yolks from whites of eggs. Put yolks into mixing bowl and beat with a rotary beater until thick and lemon colored. Gradually beat in sugar. Add boiling water, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating with egg beater continuously. Beat hard and stir in flour which has been sifted 5 times after measuring. It is a good idea to sift the sugar, too, before combining it with the yolks of eggs. Add salt to whites of eggs and beat with a wire whisk until frothy. Lift over cream of tartar and beat until the whites stand up in peaks but are not dry. Fold into egg yolk mixture, using the wire whisk as a spoon. Turn into an oiled tube cake pan and bake one hour in a slow oven 325 degrees F. Turn cake upside down to cool in the pan. Invert on a rack to make an air space between the cake and molding board.

To-morrow's Menu

Luncheon: Creamed kohlrabi, brown bread and cottage cheese sandwiches, apple sauce, drop-ginger cookies, milk, tea.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

by Laura Lou BROOKMAN

Exactly before the cobblestone walk he brought the roadster to a halt. Cherry still wore her coat with one arm in its sleeve and the other dangling. The creamy tweed was smudged with dark marks. Her hat was not quite at the proper angle and her nose and cheeks were gleaming and powdered.

Together they walked to the entrance. Before Cherry could put a hand on the door it swung open. A middle-aged woman wearing a cap and apron appeared. "Your mother's waiting for you, Miss Cherry," she said. "You'd better go right into the living-room." Seeing the empty coat sleeve, she exclaimed, "Oh, has anything happened?"

"It's all right, Martha. In the living-room, you said."

The servant nodded. She seemed to look askance at Phillips but took his hat as the young man followed Cherry through the broad hall.

He caught a hasty impression of dark woodwork and rich, subdued colorings. The furniture looked like old stuff—"antiques," Phillips told himself though he had no knowledge of period decoration.

There was a fireplace at the opposite side of the long room they entered. Yellow, dancing flames flickered on the grate. There was a bowl of red tulips on a table. Standing near the table was a small, slender woman dressed in gray. She was very much like Cherry. Brown eyes—the same oval face—and yet there was a difference. More than the difference between age and youth.

"Cherry!" the woman cried. "How could you do this?"

The girl advanced. "I'm terribly sorry, mother. Everything's all right, really! Mr. Phillips insisted on coming himself to tell you—"

"Oh, I forgot. Excuse me. This is Mr. Phillips—of the News. Mr. Phillips, my mother."

The older woman did not put out her hand. Her features seemed to freeze into place. "Of—the-News?"

she repeated, bringing out each word separately. "Not—a reporter?"

Dan stepped forward. "I'm afraid I'll have to plead guilty, Mrs. Dixon. That's what I am, all right. And it's my fault Cherry got into this mix-up this afternoon. She hadn't a thing to do with it."

Mrs. Dixon turned toward her daughter. "Cherry," she said frigidly, "who is this man and why has he come here?"

"Why, I told you, mother. He's Mr. Phillips. He came because he wanted to tell you just what happened."

"And what did happen? Didn't you tell me you were going to a guild meeting at Gretchen Alden's? And wasn't Gretchen herself here three hours ago?" For the first time, apparently, Mrs. Dixon noticed the girl's flapping coat sleeve and generally disheveled appearance. "Cherry!" she exclaimed, "where have you been? What's happened?"

"I've been trying to tell you," the girl began, but Phillips interrupted. "She's been with me, Mrs. Dixon. There was an accident and Cherry hurt her arm. A doctor dressed it but he said she should have rest and quiet. Shock, you know. She ought to lie down, I think. I'll tell you about everything."

Mrs. Dixon was at her daughter's side, was helping her out of her coat. She cried out at sight of the bandaged arm.

"It's all right, mother. It isn't anything."

There was a sound in the doorway. All three of them turned. A tall man, livid-faced, strode forward. In one hand he held a crumpled newspaper. He cried out, "Cherry—what's the meaning of this?"

Before the girl's eyes glared the headline, "Society Girl Injured In Shooting."

CHAPTER V

"What's the meaning of this?" Walter J. Dixon demanded. His accusing eyes were on his daughter.

No one spoke; for an instant no one moved. Dixon was a tall man—just under six feet. He was sturdily built, though not "heavy." His hands were firm, usually set in a mold of rigid dignity, were alive with fingers now. Older than his wife, Walter Dixon looked younger. The silvered hair lent distinction rather than age. The blue eyes snapped, turned from his daughter to his wife.

"Cherry was just explaining," Mrs. Dixon began timidly. "It was an accident."

"Accident? For my daughter to be found in an underworld rendezvous? In a shooting scandal? Accident—is that the name you have for it?"

He swung toward the girl again. Cherry put out a hand.

"Can I see what the paper says?" she asked.

"Here—read it! Read it and let me hear what you have to say for yourself! Look at your picture—plastered over every cheap news sheet in the city—"

There was the photograph of Cherry beneath the glaring headlines. It was a photograph made a year before during commencement at Miss Rathburne's School. Cherry wore a gown of floating organdie and broad-brimmed picture hat. She was like a charming wood nymph come to life. The face, sweetly serious, beneath the hat brim, was child-like in its innocence.

Certainly it was incongruous to see such a picture beneath the heavy black type, "Society Girl Injured In Shooting."

Directly beneath Cherry's name, "Miss Cherry Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Dixon of Briar-top, Sherwood Heights, and prominent in the city's younger social group, was injured when a gun was discharged in an apartment at—Taylor avenue today."

"Some mystery surrounds the shooting, which was believed to be accidental. It was reported by Patrolman James Dougherty, called to the address by residents of the building. The bullet struck Miss Dixon's arm leaving a flesh wound—"

There was more, but the blur before Cherry's eyes prevented her from reading it. The newspaper fell from her hand.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily In Trouble

By HOWARD R. GARIS

After Uncle Wiggily had jumped down in the bone hole beside Peetie Boy Woe the rabbit gentleman stood still for a few moments to let his eyes get used to the dark. Soon he was able to see quite as well as could the puppy.

"How do you like it down here, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Peetie.

"Well, there isn't much to see," chuckled the rabbit. "If you want a view you'd do much better up above where I was nibbling green clover."

"Yes, I suppose so," Peetie agreed. "But then, you see, I'm not looking for a view of the beautiful scenery. I came down here to grow some bones."

"And did you?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, yes," answered Peetie. "There's a dandy pile of bones at the far end of the hole. I smelled them as soon as I began sniffing at the hole, while you were in the clover. So I jumped down."

"Well, I am glad you are having a good time," spoke Mr. Longears. "But have you had any adventures?"

"A little one with a ground mole who has no eyes," Peetie said.

"Yes, moles are blind, but they like it that way," said the rabbit gentleman. "Well, Peetie, I am glad you haven't been disappointed. When you asked me to make you a bone, I wasn't sure anything would happen to make an adventure."

BIG DOMINION DAY BROADCAST

Prince of Wales and Imperial Conference Delegates to Be Heard From London

Montreal, June 29.—It is the custom of Canadians in London to foregather on the evening of each Dominion Day to celebrate the anniversary of Confederation. This year the annual dinner will be held to-morrow when Hon. Howard Ferguson, High Commissioner for Canada, will be host to the Prince of Wales and a number of delegates to the Imperial Economic Conference. The speeches following the dinner will be broadcast by the British Broadcasting Corporation throughout Great Britain and will be brought to Canada over the Canadian transatlantic telephone circuit. CFCF, Victoria, will be on the hook-up.

The toast to Canada and the Imperial Economic Conference will be proposed by the Prince of Wales, following an introduction by Mr. Ferguson. The toast will be seconded by Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin and supported by Right Hon. J. H. Thomas and the Right Hon. Walter Runciman. In view of the importance of the Imperial Conference it is anticipated that the addresses will be of outstanding interest.

The programme will commence at 12.25 o'clock, Victoria time. In the afternoon the broadcast will continue until 1.30 o'clock, and will be broadcast from the key station CFCF of the Canadian Marconi Company in Montreal over a transatlantic network of Canadian stations through the joint co-operation of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific broadcast transmission systems. The transatlantic telephone channel is being provided jointly by the Canadian Marconi Company, the Bell Telephone Company and the British Post Office. The addresses will be heard on the Pacific Coast over CNRV as well.

"Oh, but there has!" said Peetie, eagerly. "I've eaten a lot of bones. I've seen a mole and maybe something else will happen."

It did—in a little while. All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily was looking at Peetie gnawing more bones, a noise was heard in the hole.

"What was that?" asked Uncle Wiggily, getting ready to run out of the hole.

"I don't know," answered Peetie, "unless it was a bone coming back. It sounds like something crawling."

"It is," said a little voice. "I'm a crawling worm. But please don't tell me the mole is here!" he begged, and out into the big hole, from a small opening in a side wall, crawled a red worm.

"The mole was here, but he has gone," said Peetie. "He said he was going after a worm."

"Well, I'm that worm and he's still after me," spoke the crawling chap. "Willie is my name. In case anybody should ask you to go with him in his little voice. 'Willie Worm. I'm going now,' he added. 'If the mole comes don't tell him you saw me. He's so greedy!'"

"We won't tell him where you are, Willie Worm," promised Uncle Wiggily, and as the little wiggler crawled away Mr. Longears said: "Come, Peetie, I think it is time we went up out of this hole. There's nothing to see here in the dark and you have had two adventures."

"Yes, I am ready to go," barked Peetie. "I've had enough bones to last me until supper, I think."

Uncle Wiggily and Peetie went back to the bottom of the hole, down which they had jumped. Peetie ran on ahead, but when he reached the opening and tried to scramble up to the top where the golden sun was shining on the green fields, why, the little puppy couldn't do it.

"What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I—I—now—I can't get out the hole!" panted Peetie.

"Why, did some one stop it up?" asked the rabbit.

"No, the hole isn't stopped up," Peetie answered. "I came down it easily enough and the hole is still open. But I guess I suddenly got so fat from eating so many bones that I can't push myself out now."

"That's too bad," said Uncle Wiggily. "Let me take a look at the hole. Perhaps I can dig it larger so you can squeeze up, Peetie. Stand aside until I pass you and look at the hole."

The tunnel or underground burrow where Peetie and Uncle Wiggily stood had, at first, been large enough for both of them to stand side by side. But now Uncle Wiggily had trouble passing Peetie.

"My, but you have grown fat," said the rabbit gentleman. "And so quickly, Peetie!"

"It was on account of those bones," Peetie whined. "I wish I hadn't been so greedy and eaten so many."

"It's too late to think of that now," said Mr. Longears. "Let me get at the hole, Peetie. I'll try to widen it." By squeezing and pushing Uncle Wiggily managed to get past the puppy dog. But as soon as he had looked at the hole down which he had jumped Mr. Longears said:

"Peetie, we are in trouble!"

"Trouble?" barked the puppy.

"Much trouble," said Uncle Wiggily. However, Mr. Longears found a way out and how he did it I shall tell you to-morrow when the story will be about Uncle Wiggily on a boat. And please ask the June bug to stop banging against the screen door to make holes for the mosquitoes.

LEGALITY OF PLAN DOUBTED

Proposal of Port Alberni Council to Transfer Funds Held in Reserve Is Revived

Inspector of Municipalities Deplores Failure to Tax Improvements

Special to The Times

Port Alberni, June 29.—The city council on Monday evening dealt with a communication from the inspector of municipalities in response to a request from the council for official sanction of its plan to secure the permission of the electorate to transfer funds held in reserve from the proceeds of the sale of the light plant some years ago. The fund in question is $4,000, invested in bonds which at present have a lower market value than when purchased, and something over $3,000 could be raised for relief works if the money could be used.

The inspector of municipalities was not sure whether there was precedent for the action contemplated, and doubted its legality. Referring to the plea of the council that it was without funds of any sort for its various purposes, he regretted that sufficient levies had not been made, specifically deploring failure to impose a tax on improvements.

Tax collections to date have equalled last year's receipts. Considerable improvement in the state of the water rears account has been effected by collections, by exchanging work for rates in arrears, and in a few cases by crediting destitute people with direct relief entries.

Alberta Wheat Pool To Continue System

Calgary, June 29.—Alberta wheat Pool will continue operating this year under its present marketing system, it is announced.

Pool officials decided not to hold a plebiscite this year among its membership "on alternate methods of marketing," the announcement said.

In a resolution passed at the annual meeting of the pool last fall it was suggested such a plebiscite, be held. Directors, however, decided it was inadvisable to hold the vote at present.

It was intended to hold the plebiscite this week and the various methods of marketing suggested for adoption, according to the announcement, were:

1. Straight pooling with initial payment, the same as practised by the pool up until last summer.

2. Straight pooling except no initial payment would be made on delivery of wheat, but money paid out at intervals as grain would be sold.

3. Pooling with initial payment and with option of selling on the open market at any time in any manner the grain owner desired.

4. Pooling with no initial payment but with money paid out as grain was sold, and with the option provided of selling on the open market at any time or in any manner the grain owner desired.

The pool at present is operating under the third suggestion made for the proposed marketing. This change from straight pooling with the initial payment, the original system of the pool, was made last summer during the wheat crisis in the Dominion.

C.N.R. Shows Gain In Revenue; Costs Cut

Montreal, June 29.—A decrease in gross revenues of $3,918,273 in May, 1932, compared with May of last year, was more than offset by reduced operating expenses of the Canadian National Railways for the month, according to the monthly statement of revenues and expenses showing gross revenues in May of $11,665,254.

Operating expenses of the Canadian National in May, 1932, were $10,984,536, a reduction of $4,209,278 from the operating expenses figure of May, 1931.

Net revenue for May, 1932, therefore, showed an increase over May, 1931, of $391,108, to reach a total of $721,794.

For the five months' period, January 1 to May 31, 1932, gross revenues of $57,780,732 showed a decrease of $15,268,654. The reduction in operating expenses over the period almost kept pace with this. Operating expenses for the 1932 period were $56,569,923, a reduction of $15,035,432. This left net revenue for the 1932 period of $1,190,818, a decrease of $253,222 for the 1932 period as against the same months of last year.

What Good Is a Husband?—Why, He Puts Mrs. Before a Woman's Name, Provides the Reason For a Show Wedding and a Home and Gives Her A Bona Fide Grievance and Object of Reform

A WOMAN who signs herself "Cynical Spinster" asks: "What is the good of a husband, anyway?" Well, of course, there is the old story about the widow who never missed her husband when he died because she still had a parrot that swore, a chimney that smoked and a cat that stayed out at nights. Still, and for all of that, there are many things about a husband that makes him worth his board and keep and a desirable household ornament.

Perhaps the chief virtue that a husband has in the eyes of the majority of women is that he keeps a woman from being an old maid and enables her to put those sacred letters MRS before her name which she covets more than she does all of the alphabet handed out by colleges. The possession of a husband, no matter what a poor, weedy, moth-eaten specimen of the genus he may be, saves her face among the matrons and protects her against their insulting sympathy. She, too, is of the elect.

Since few wives bear the outward and visible signs of having drawn the head prize in the matrimonial lottery, it is not easy to see why women are so anxious to marry. Nor, since marrying is a trick that any female moron can perform with her eyes shut and one hand tied behind her, is it apparent why women regard it as the chief accomplishment of their lives. But the fact remains that as a sex women regard being old maids as a sort of disgrace and feel that it shows that they lack pulchritude and attractiveness. Hence husbands are necessary to save distressed damsels from the fate they dread worse than death.

Another thing a husband is good for is as a justification for a show wedding. Of course, nobody ever notices him and probably he would not be missed if he was not there, but custom and convention demand him as one of the props and there could not be any performance if he was not among those also present.

From the time every little girl can think at all she begins planning out her wedding and deciding on how many bridesmaids she will have and what sort of dresses they will wear and the length of her own veil and white satin train and her whole life would just simply be nothing, I mean nothing at all, if some obliging youth did not come along and help her to realize her dreams.

Then a husband is necessary for the making of a home. Inasmuch as all that most men do in their homes is to knock things and drop cigarette ashes on the floor and growl over the bills, it looks as if they could be easily dispensed with. Such, however, is not the case.

Somewhat it takes a man to give flavor to a home and put some pep into a woman's housekeeping. The homes of widows and old maids seem always to have a flat atmosphere, no matter how much period furniture and Oriental rugs they have in them, and it is notorious that lone women are nearly always half-starved, because they do not think it worth while to get up a good dinner, unless some man is to eat it.

A husband is also useful because he furnishes a woman a victim who cannot escape her upon whom to work out her reform complex. That saves the balance of us the few liberties we have left, for every woman thinks that everything she does not like to do is wrong and everything she likes to do everybody else should be forced to do by law, but through a merciful provision of Providence this mania is generally diverted toward changing her husband's manners and grammar and habits and food and politics and religion. You will observe that virtually all reformers are unmarried women and men with lady-like tendencies.

A husband is well nigh indispensable as a source of secret sorrow, without which no woman is really happy. Every woman has to have a trouble even if she has to manufacture one out of whole cloth, but if she has a husband she has a genuine bonafide grievance right in her hand. If he drinks or steps out nights or has an eye for pretty flapper, she has something to weep over and talk over with mother and the girls and her best friend and that justifies her in her own eyes in going on an orgy of self-pity. And failing all else she can always have a husband who does not understand her, whereas the poor, unfortunate spinster is simply debarred from the martyr role.

A husband is also priceless as a standing excuse, and what those unlucky women do who have no one to blame things on, I am sure I do not know. When a woman says that she will have to ask her husband if she can do this and so, every woman knows that she is framing up an alibi. "The plans for your club sound perfectly fascinating," Mrs. Smith, and I would just love to join, but my husband is so old-fashioned he is opposed to women's clubs except, of course, bridge, which is not a club, is it?" "I would love to subscribe to your fund for the hospital for disabled cats, but I will have to ask my husband." And so on and so on. Alas, for the old maids who have no husbands to whom they can send out SOS calls in time of need.

And husbands are a post-graduate course in psychology and higher mathematics and salesmanship and diplomacy. No woman who has ever been married but is the wiser and broader, a more tolerant and a more tactful woman for the experience. And husbands are useful as billpayers. They are certainly handy to have around the house on the first of the month. Every woman who has to earn her own bread and butter envies her sister who can sit back pretty and let George do it. And a nice, house-broken husband makes the loveliest sort of a pet. He is far superior to a pom or a canary bird.

And sometimes a husband is so kind and gentle and understanding that he is good for that heart hunger that gnaws at every woman's vitals and he feeds his wife on the love that is manna for her soul.

The Beginning of Names

III—FROM TRADES

A thousand years ago, Great Britain was not nearly so thickly settled as it is to-day. Where we now have large cities, there were villages then. People were able to get along fairly well by calling one another John or Arthur and William.

An old-time barber at work

As time went on, villages grew into cities, and there came to be much trouble about names. Five or ten "Johns" might live in the same district. If a person asked to see "John," the wrong man might answer his call. To make their meaning clear, people began to use extra words which told something about a man. Sometimes his trade was described, sometimes the color of his hair or skin, sometimes the part of town in which he lived. Instead of saying "I want to see Edward," a person might say, "I want to see Edward the Tinker," or "Edward the Baker."

Great numbers of family names grew from these trades. How many names can you think of which must have started in that way?

Yes, Smith is one of them. It is the most common English name. In olden days, people spoke of William the Smith. In time, the names were just William Smith and Harold Smith. Arrowsmith and Goldsmith are names which came from smiths who worked in special fields.

Miller is another trade name which turned into a family name. Taylor, Weaver, Shepherd and Carpenter may be traced back to persons who made clothes, wove cloth, tended sheep or worked with wood.

"Clark" is the old English way of spelling "clerk." One of my grandfathers was named Stringer, and among his ancestors was a man who made strings for bows. Archer and Bowman are other names which came from men who dealt with bows and arrows.

Father is a good old name for men of the soil. Wright came from men who worked with wood or metal.

Family names did not, at first, pass down from father to son. An English record dating back only 600 years speaks of "John Smyth, son of Thomas Wright." In later times, however, sons and daughters took the names of their fathers.

Horoscope

THURSDAY, JUNE 30, 1932

Kindly stars rule strongly to-day, according to astrology. This is indeed a rare day in June, since adverse aspects are not apparently discernible.

In the morning the early applicant should be exceedingly fortunate, for persons who employ workers will be quick to judge qualifications. The planetary government is fortunate for hearts congenial.

Men who have been able to prove superior ability or luck. Those who would power will benefit.

This is read as an extraordinarily favorable time for every sort of advertisement. Newspapers will profit, but they may expect surprising forms of competition in publicity, astrologers predict.

Confidence and partnerships signed under this sway should be political as well as commercial agreements and trading.

For farmers and other workers who live by patient and profit and good cheer are predicted. Industry should benefit through many examples of activity.

It's a day auspicious for weddings in which the principal find needs rather than

It is crowded with thrills and offers a peep into the real world behind the scenes of newspaper-making, such as has never before been granted to the great army of newspaper readers.

COMING TO EMPIRE

"Devil's Lottery," the Fox romantic drama, will open its local engagement next Friday at the Empire Theatre. The derby and the world's greatest lottery, the Calcutta Sweepstakes, forms the basis for the dramatic photoplay which stars Elissa Landi, Victor McLaglen, Alexander Kirkland, Beryl Mercer, Ralph Morgan, Herbert Mundin, Allan Dinehart, and Barbara Weeks are among the other players.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Emil Chautard and Gustave von Seyffertitz play important roles in Marlene Dietrich's latest picture, "Shanghai Express." Both of these actors were formerly directors of silent pictures. Josef von Sternberg, who directed "Shanghai Express," was once Chautard's assistant. During the filming Von Sternberg told Chautard what to do. However, as Chautard is an exceptionally fine actor there was little telling to do. "Shanghai Express" is now being featured at the Columbia Theatre.

Miss Damita is without doubt one of the glamorous personages of the screen. Gifted with rare exotic beauty in the Garbo-Dietrich tradition, and possessing fiery talent for passion-charged acting, she is admirably cast as the Madame Julie of "The Woman Between."

Her first stage role was in "Queen Guinevere," at the Greenwich Village Theatre when she was sixteen years old. Two years ago she revived the play for sentimental reasons. She played the lead, designed the sets and costumes, and acted as business manager.

STUDIED FOR PRIESTHOOD

Niel Hamilton Made His Mark
in Pictures After Difficult
Beginning

Handsomeness Actor Made Hit in
"Beau Geste" and "The Dawn Patrol"

Niel Hamilton, one of the most handsome and one of the most reserved stars of the screen, who was in Victoria with his wife, Irene, for a couple of hours yesterday evening bound from Seattle to Los Angeles by the H. F. Alexander, early in life studied for the priesthood.

He got his first real chance in pictures in "Beau Geste," that gripping story of the North African desert. He also scored heavily in "The Dawn Patrol" with Dick Barthelmess. Many picture fans are of the opinion that Hamilton put some of his best work into this great war film. He offered an exciting and intriguing personality in "Strangers May Kiss," sophisticated story of modern life, in which he appeared with Norma Shearer, Irene Rich and Robert Montgomery. Hamilton has been on the screen eleven years and in the three pictures mentioned he revealed himself as something more than an average leading man.

Hailing from Athol, Massachusetts, Hamilton was early in his career intended for holy orders and studied the preliminary stages for the priesthood before changing his mind. He decided to become an actor when he was but eighteen years of age. He followed a pretty rough road for a time, picked up occasional extra work in New York and posed for illustrated advertisements. He used to sleep in a cot in the studio of Howard Chandler Christy, the famous artist and illustrator.

In his determination to get on the stage and make it his career he took any job that offered around theatres and played stock on the road. It was while he was playing in stock at Toledo that Hamilton met his wife, Irene. He returned to New York and while he was leading man with a stock company in Brooklyn, D. W. Griffith sent for him to take a lead in "America." "The White Rose" and "America" definitely established him with Griffith productions and he has been prominent on the screen since that time.

Hamilton was signed by Paramount as soon as his contract with Griffith expired and after five years with that corporation he threw in his lot with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

LAST RITES HELD

The funeral of Robert Gillespie was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock from St. Mary's Church, Metchoin. Rev. H. M. Bolton, assisted by Rev. Canon H. W. G. Stocken, officiated. The casket was covered with beautiful floral tributes and many friends attended. The following were pallbearers: H. C. Helgeson, C. H. Harrison, B. Ramsay, O. Broderick, R. Witty and W. Duncan. Interment was made in St. Mary's Churchyard.

Birthday Greetings Are Extended To-day To—

SIR PERCY LAKE
 REGINALD CARVER

LIEUT.-GENERAL SIR PERCY LAKE

Sir Percy was born in Tenby, Wales, seventy-seven years ago. He has had a very distinguished and colorful army record. Serving as lieutenant of the 59th Regiment from 1873 to 1883, he was then promoted to captain of the East Lancashire Regiment, serving in that capacity from 1883 to 1891. Promotions followed quickly and in 1895 he was made major-general. He served in the Afghan War, in the Sudan campaign, and was present in the engagements at Hakin and the Tofrek Zereba.

Chief among the many high positions he has held in the army are Chief of the General Staff, Canadian Militia and Inspector-General, and Chief Military Adviser to the Minister of Militia. He commanded a division in India in 1911-12 and was Chief of the General Staff in India 1912-15. He commanded the army in Mesopotamia in 1916.

In 1905 he was made Companion of St. Michael and St. George and in 1908 Knight Commander of St. Michael and St. George. He was president of the Canadian Legion, British Empire Service League for one year. Sir Percy now makes his home in Victoria and takes an active interest in many community affairs.

Reginald Carver, formerly a resident of Victoria, now lives in Vancouver. He was at one time school trustee for Esquimalt and a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

NO HELP FOR TRANSIENTS

Ten Thousand Will Be
Weeded Out From B.C.
Unemployment Camps

Hope Expressed Men Will Find Way Out of Province
Same as They Found Way In

Transients who drifted to British Columbia from Nova Scotia, Ontario and the prairie provinces and went to work camps will be weeded out as quickly as possible it was learned at the Parliament Buildings this morning.

The weeding out process started a week ago on Hon. J. W. Jones' initiative to the unemployment committee of the cabinet that such steps were essential for the province to keep within its available means for unemployment relief. The stand was taken on the grounds that transients who came to British Columbia homeless and without funds were a federal and not a provincial responsibility. At the time the cost of caring for transients has amounted to around $5,000 a day.

Hundreds have already been discharged from camps in different parts of the province. Hundreds more will be weeded out daily until none but British Columbia residents are cared for. Some assistance has been given the men to reach points in the province to which they desire to go. They have received transportation on government trucks and on the railways.

Vancouver is protesting vigorously that its problems have been added to by the drifting of hundreds of unemployed to that city to add to the number already providing a bigger problem than the city can face.

Although many of the men have drifted to Vancouver any effort to unload them on that city is deemed by government officials. No provision is made for them after they leave the camps and their movements are not directed. The hope is voiced they will find their way out of the province the same way they found their way in.

FINANCE CZAR RECOMMENDED

Cabinet Should Give Hon.
J. W. Jones Sole Authority,
Says Newspaper

Nelson News, Conservative,
Advocates He Be Given Absolute and Complete Power

Establishment of what in effect would be a financial dictatorship in British Columbia with absolute power over governmental expenditures and the present finance minister, Hon. J. W. Jones, in complete control is recommended in an editorial in The Nelson Daily News, Conservative newspaper.

The editorial gives a review of British Columbia's financial situation and says: "It is obvious that the present critical conditions in British Columbia cannot be permitted to continue."

"It is time for plain speaking and time for vigorous and effective action. Cabinet conferences, investigations of business men's committees, and all the rest of it, have not worked. The remedy lies in establishment of what in effect would be a financial dictatorship with absolute power over governmental expenditures," the editorial says.

"Hon. J. W. Jones has done good work since he became Minister of Finance. It is horrifying even to contemplate what might have occurred if we had continued to drift along in the way we were drifting before he was placed in charge of the Treasury. But no minister of finance, operating under the present restrictions which hedge about that office, can do the job effectively."

"Without delay, the cabinet at Victoria should delegate its whole authority, as individuals and as a body, on financial matters to the minister of finance. In matters of finance, he should be given absolute and complete power, the same power that is possessed and exercised by the manager of a private business, and which he is to be exercised vigorously when the amount of revenue coming in to the private business ceases to equal expenditures for which he cannot find the money from current revenue."

"We cannot afford any more borrowing, in order to keep up to the mark the expenditures for which the province has been developed in the last fourteen years."

"If the effective operation of such a financial dictatorship is hampered by existing statutory requirements, or for that matter by existing statutory expenditures, a special three or four-day session of the Legislature, without extra indemnity to members should be called immediately, and the necessary remedial legislation put through, and the minister of finance be given a mandate to control expenditures by no other consideration than the amount of revenue he has available to meet them."

"The time has passed for half measures, or dilly-dallying, for vacillation or for weakness or hesitancy."

MISSION BOAT OFF TO-MORROW

The mission boat "Shantymen" will arrive at the C.N.R. wharf behind the post office this afternoon for inspection and the taking on of provisions, clothing, resting material and so on. The boat will put to sea on its monthly cruise after a dedication service to-morrow evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Several local ministers will take part in the service. A hearty welcome is extended to all interested to visit the boat. The usual prayer meeting of the Shantymen will be held at the Y.W.C.A. to-morrow between 12 and 1 o'clock.

Preliminary hearing of a charge against R. Bamford of obtaining money from the city by false pretences, opened in the City Police Court this morning with Frank Higgins, K.C., defending. It was adjourned to to-morrow after some evidence was taken.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Hugh Bolton, secretary of the B.C. division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, is a visitor to the city to-day from Vancouver.

Col. J. J. Macdonald, M.P., with a vagrant in the City Police Court this morning, pleaded not guilty and was remanded one day on her own recognizance.

Meeting under the auspices of the Canadian Labor Defence League will be held in Lapp's Hall, corner Burnside Road and Wascana, this evening at 8 o'clock.

The members of Court Triumph will not meet Friday (Dominion Day). At Court Vancouver's meet Monday, July 4, the officers recently elected will be installed.

Members of the Spiritual Science Temple and their friend held a picnic at the Willows Beach yesterday evening. Beach sports, camp fire singing and refreshments were enjoyed.

Troops of the 5th B.C. Coast Brigade, C.A., and the Second Anti-Aircraft Section, who have been engaged in competitive firing and military drill at Fort Macaulay, broke camp yesterday.

A further remand was granted in the case of Private Frederick Oak, charged with arson at a result of fire at Work Point Hospital last year. The case was set for July 7.

Owing to unforeseen circumstances the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Sunday School picnic, which was to be held at Goldstream on July 1, will be held at the home of Mrs. W. H. Paterson, Gordon Head. Buses will leave the church at 10:45 o'clock.

Leonard Percy Collins, of Keating, after a trial before Mr. Justice Murphy in the Supreme Court to-day, was granted a divorce decree absolute from Rosina Violet Collins of Yakima, C. Harold Tait was counsel for the plaintiff.

In the Supreme Court to-day Ellen Wesley Wade, with Stuart Henderson as her counsel, was granted a divorce from Hugh Edward Wade of Cowichan. Mr. Justice Murphy in his judgment awarded her a decree absolute and custody of children.

The Emmanuel Baptist Sunday school will hold its annual picnic on Friday at Elk Lake, leaving the church at 10 a.m. for the scene of the outing. A good programme of sports and games has been arranged, and all parents and friends are cordially invited to be present.

Four talks are scheduled for the regular Rotary Club luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-morrow. Percy Watson will speak on "Why an International Convention?" Charlie French on "Impressions of Seattle," Bill Pinfold on "The International Aspect of Seattle," and George McGregor on "Resolutions as Presented to Voting Delegates."

S. Allen has been appointed deputy government agent at Hazelton during a two-weeks' absence of E. Lunn according to orders-in-council brought down to-day. G. Edgar has been made deputy mining recorder at McMillen Creek vice L. F. Murphy. William C. Crisp has been appointed deputy mining recorder at Porter's Landing vice A. J. Marion.

George Bone, 612 Pandora Street, claims to have seen the Causeway crow this year on his property. The bottom section of the crow's bill was hanging down, he noticed, and the bird appeared to be staggering. Mr. Bone was surprised when he read about the crippled crow which is daily to be seen spearing food with the upper part of its beak and either catching or taking it into its mouth on the Causeway award.

A grass fire, which broke out on a vacant lot between 13th and 14th streets on Robertson Street this morning. The fire department was also called out this morning to check a roof blaze at 2853 Maple Street. The damage was slight. Prompt action by firemen yesterday afternoon prevented a roof fire at 634 Michigan Street reaching serious proportions. The engines were called before the blaze gained much headway, however, and the damage was not great.

Hon. William Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture, who has been attending the Cariboo District Institute and the Beef Cattle Growers' Association at Williams Lake, is en route to Langley to attend a stumping demonstration staged by the British Columbia Electric Railway for New Westminister, where he will address a meeting of the Lower Mainland District Farmers' Institute to-night.

R. G. L. Clarke, district fruit and vegetable inspector for the federal government, with headquarters at Vancouver, was in the city yesterday conferring with officials of the Department of Agriculture. Mr. Clarke reported excellent chances for increased markets for lettuce and celery in the prairie provinces and eastern Canada and predicted increased acreage devoted to these two vegetables next year. Canning and processing factories, which also come under his inspection duties, were visited. Mr. Clarke paying a high compliment to the community spirit shown throughout the Saanich Peninsula.

J. S. Atkinson, director of the Canadian Bureau for the Advancement of Music, Toronto, explained in connection with the court hearing of the suit brought by Henry McCleary, Victoria music teacher, and dismissed by Mr. Justice Murphy in the Supreme Court, that the rating recommendations of his bureau for the year in question were based on investigations and questionnaires sent out to teachers. He did not claim, as suggested in the question of H. A. Beckwith, Mr. McCleary's counsel, and Mr. McCleary's answer in the witness box, that his ratings in question had been based on examinations.

Confusion in the wording of the information resulted this morning in a withdrawal of the first prosecution brought in the city for failure to produce one of the new driving licenses, effective at the first of the month. When the case was called, the defendant was charged with failing to possess the current year's driving license, whereas the officer who laid the information had alleged he failed to produce it on demand of an officer. He pleaded not guilty. The information was amended during the court session, but again did not suit the requirements of the act, merely stating that he failed to produce the license, and omitting the words "on demand of a police officer." City Prosecutor C. L. Harrison then withdrew the charge.

Hundreds of Passengers Carried
During Tour of British Columbia Airmen

"From the many inquiries received by the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce the air pageant to mark the opening of the Gordon Head Airport next Sunday and Monday should draw thousands of interested citizens," George Beck, manager of the pageant, stated this morning.

Mr. Beck stated that fifteen airplanes which have appeared at several points in British Columbia during the B.C. Air Tour will fly to Gordon Head for the two-day aerial circus to present the most spectacular exhibition of skill and daring ever seen on Vancouver Island. Thousands of people have marvelled at the manoeuvres under the direction of A. H. Wilson, tour leader, at other points where they have appeared. Hundreds of people have taken advantage of the reasonable rates offered during the pageant to make a maiden flight.

Most of the time Sunday afternoon will be devoted to passenger flights and scores of reservations have already been made. There will be more passenger flights Monday, but most of the programme will be devoted to exhibitions of formation and stunt flying.

BANKERS CAUGHT ON ALBERTA LOAN

Eighty Per Cent of £1,000,000 Issue Left on London Underwriters' Hands

Canadian Press
London, June 29.—Underwriters of the Province of Alberta loan of £1,000,000 in 5 per cent bonds, issued at 98, have been left with 80 per cent of the amount. Dealings commenced on the London Stock Exchange to-day at a discount around one per cent. The issue is in thirty and thirty-five year bonds.

EDMONTON PUZZLED
Edmonton, June 29.—Hon. R. G. Reid, Provincial Treasurer, said he had not received any official information concerning public reception of the Alberta loan recently underwritten in London.

At this long range, it was difficult to understand the situation, while it was quite possible there had been some recent development which was causing the issue to be absorbed at a less rapid rate than had been anticipated, he said.

SIAM PEOPLE FORMING SENATE

Associated Press
Bangkok, June 29.—A constitution providing for a limited monarchy, with a temporary dictatorship by the People's Party, was promulgated yesterday after it had been signed by King Prajadhipok.

A senate is to be formed soon, half the members to be appointed by the executive of the People's Party and the other half to be elected.

It was reported women would have the voting privilege.

All the important princes arrested in the army and navy coup last Friday were released yesterday, except Prince Puribhara.

Woods Full of Young Men Seeking Sprint Places on Olympic Team

Absence of Hammer, Discus and Javelin Throwers Noted

Mike Rodden Expresses View of Many on U.S. Sportsmanship

Rube Walberg Might Be Called Jack Sharkey of Baseball

IT IS STRANGE that there are so many runners tearing into sprints or pounding over the marathon journey to win a place on the Canadian Olympic team and so few athletes are trying to win the trip as throwers of the hammer, the discus or the javelin. There may be some fun in running but it is hard to see where it can come either in the practice or the performance. There is some sport in running with a football under one's arm or a lacrosse stick clenched firmly in the hand. But to go out and tear up and down the track with the knees going like pistons, or to drag the body over some twenty-six miles for the fun of it appears anything but thrilling.

The hurdler, of course, has his moments at each hurdle, when he punctuates his pace with a jump. But the fun or easy seconds of a sprinting race must be packed with thrills for the competitor as the scenery rushes by the sides of his eyes and his heart comes up and nudges his conscience in comparison with such goings-on as the weight man appears to have a cushy job. He can stand in the shade of the stadium and have his hammer to his heart's content, thereby gaining plenty of amusement at the minimum of mileage. And there is usually somebody around to carry back his weight. And then call a weight man doesn't have to know such a great deal about diet and other training methods. Yet the woods appear to be full of young men who leap from a crouch and run 100 metres in around 10.6.

Mike Rodden, sports editor of The Toronto Globe, expresses himself as follows on sportsmanship: "Because certain people of the 'Gar' Wood and 'Gunboat' Smith class elect to win by trickery, the opinion has gained ground in this country that United States sportsmanship is something that is anything but desirable. The whole nation stands condemned because of this 'win at any cost' attitude. But those who thus judge the citizens of the United States are making a grievous error.

"It is true that some United States officials in amateur and professional sports have made themselves ridiculous and obnoxious in the eyes of the world by their unfair decisions. For this they have been promptly and severely criticized, not only by their own countrymen but by those in other countries, as witness the fact that only one scribe in New York thought Jack Sharkey had earned the verdict over Max Schmeling. Dan Parker was a man who agreed with 'Two-run Smith.'

"It will thus be seen that the United States has her full quota of good sportsmen. The unfortunate part about the affair is that many of those who do not qualify as real sportsmen have too much power. They should be ousted from office as quickly as possible so that the good name of a nation will not be besmirched any longer.

"Sport can well afford to lose men like 'Gar' Wood of Detroit and 'Gunboat' Smith of New York. Wood, of course, would not stoop to crookedness to retain the Harnsworth Trophy, but he did use trickery in a race last year against Kaye Don of England and such tactics are not wanted in sport. As for Smith and Kelly, they may have imagined that Sharkey defeated Schmeling, and if this is true, it appears to be quite incompetent.

"It is with pleasure that the following can be mentioned as being numbered among the vast number who did not agree with the verdict in favor of Sharkey: Damon Runyon, Grantland Rice, Gene Tunney, Jim Corbett, James L. Kilgallen, W. O. McGowan, Paul Gallico, and James P. Guehan. These men know sport and sportsmanship."

Just how the three ring officials came to their conclusions regarding the Schmeling-Sharkey fight is shown in the following table, announced by the New York commission, giving the round-by-round vote of Referee "Gunboat" Smith and Judges George Kelly and Charles Mathison.

Round	Smith	Kelly	Mathison
1st	Even	Sharkey	Sharkey
2nd	Sharkey	Sharkey	Schmeling
3rd	Sharkey	Sharkey	Schmeling
4th	Even	Sharkey	Schmeling
5th	Sharkey	Sharkey	Schmeling
6th	Sharkey	Sharkey	Schmeling
7th	Sharkey	Sharkey	Schmeling
8th	Schmeling	Sharkey	Schmeling
9th	Schmeling	Schmeling	Schmeling
10th	Even	Schmeling	Schmeling
11th	Schmeling	Schmeling	Schmeling
12th	Schmeling	Schmeling	Schmeling
13th	Sharkey	Schmeling	Schmeling
14th	Even	Schmeling	Schmeling

In some ways Rube Walberg might be called the Jack Sharkey of baseball. He lacks emotional control. His nerves get jumpy. He flies off the handle. In all those respects he conforms to the popular idea of left-handed mentality.

But he is unlike Sharkey, too. Rube is no front runner. He has a lot of courage. The fact that he seems to pitch his best when the club is behind testifies to his fighting ability. Of course, he makes everybody nervous.

Victoria Football Champions Eliminated From Dominion Play-downs by 3-to-2 Count in Night Game at Vancouver; Esquimalt Led 2 to 1 Early in Second Half; De Costa Turns in Fine Performance in Esquimalt Net; Williams Injured

Vancouver, June 29.—Esquimalt's championship soccer team hit a snag in its quest for Dominion Cup honors and will no longer contest in those fields. Kerrisdale Merchants rallied to win 3 to 2 before a crowd of 200 at Bob Brown's Enclosure yesterday evening.

RICHARDSON IN HOSPITAL

Victoria Member of Canadian Bisley Team Sick; Making Good Progress

Remainder of Team Practicing in Preparation For Opening on Monday

Bisley Camp, England, June 29.—With the exception of Major F. Richardson, Victoria, who is in hospital, the Canadian Bisley team is putting in valuable hours of practice for the great meeting of the National Rifle Association, which commences next Monday. Major Richardson is progressing favorably, and hopes to be on the range by the time the competitions start.

The remainder of the team is fully acclimatized and getting familiar again with the long and short ranges over which the classics of service rifle shooting will be decided once more. Miss Gwen Spencer, Victoria, protégé of Major Richardson, is practicing along with the team and is shooting almost as well as the rest of the team. She will enter the miniature rifle shoots, if not the chief of the open events.

Familiar figures at Bisley who had become warm friends of Lieut. Desmond Burke, Ottawa, in the journey he has made since he won the King's Prize in 1924, are charmed with his bride, who came with him to Ireland, and then to England, immediately after the marriage at Kingston, Ont., early this month.

Dominion marksmen who are well acquainted with Sgt. A. G. Fulton, great English shot, who won the King's Prize last year, regret the illness which will likely keep him out of the shoots this year.

The N.R.A. meeting is preceded by "Service" Week, and the naval, military and Air Force marksmen of the British forces are plugging along in a heat wave, tricky wind conditions and generally unpleasant shooting weather.

Newsboy Boy Winner Over Baby Arizmendi

Los Angeles, June 29.—Newsboy Brown, rugged 120-pound Jewish scrapper, Los Angeles, evened matters with his Mexican opponent, Baby Arizmendi, by winning a close decision in ten rounds before 3,000 spectators at the Olympic Auditorium yesterday evening.

Arizmendi won a close decision from Brown several weeks ago. He started the fight with Brown piling up a lead of four rounds during the first half of the fight, but the Mexican City featherweight cut loose with his usual flurry of punches and landed a knockout blow in the eighth round.

Wesley Ketchell, Portland middleweight, stopped Wilson Yarbo, Cleveland negro, in the first round of the semi-final bout.

REIZLAFF WINS
Chicago, June 29.—Charley Reizlaff, former University of Illinois football star, in the first round of the scheduled ten-round bout before 3,000 spectators in the White City Outdoor Arena yesterday evening.

vous. Connie Mack never knows what to expect from him. More than a few of the furrows in the vertical Mackian men have been ploughed there while Mr. Mack sat on the edge of the bench, watching Walberg wobble.

Most left-handers have too much temperament. It seems to me that the Rube hasn't enough. He takes Mickey Cochrane's verbal abuse with a sheepish grin. Up to a certain point, that is. Then he gets mad. Cochrane has a devastating way with a pitcher who is not showing the proper amount of hustle. He will hold the ball, hands on hips, glaring at the offending moundman, his attitude eloquently expressing disgust. Rube takes these gestures, for the most part, with nonchalant indifference.

But it is embarrassing to be waiting for the ball, before a crowd, with the catcher just standing there looking at you as if you were a worm. Sometimes he will hold the Walberg skin. He flares up.

"Give me that ball!"

Then the Mick knows he has his man properly worked up. And Walberg steps on the rubber and starts throwing dazzling strikes. As a rule, however, the Rube doesn't get mad. Not nearly often enough.

In all but dash the losers were the equals of the winners. They had a magnificent goalie in De Costa and a pair of strong backs, but the halves did not keep in close enough touch with their forwards, while the attack did too much close passing instead of swinging the ball about. Campbell was none too safe in the Kerrisdale goal, but he was well protected by Bruce and Miller, a pair of strong kickers. It was at half-back where Kerrisdale had the pull, all three following their forwards and supporting them finely. There was no outstanding man on the front line, Bennett, if anything, being a shade better than the others.

Kerrisdale started off with a rush and for the first ten minutes De Costa was kept busily employed but he cleared everything which came his way in confident style. When the Islanders got to the other end and Bruce handled just outside the penalty area and Barnswell planted the free kick into Campbell's hands. In the next minute "Scotty" Stewart hooked in a lovely shot which the goalie tipped over the bar.

After fifteen minutes play Bennett tricked two men and centred for Wilkinson to shoot the ball over De Costa's head for the opening goal. Esquimalt showed better form after this but overdid the close passing near goal, and the Kerrisdale defenders nipped in and cleared. When Kerrisdale broke away again De Costa made a brilliant save from Morley, and just afterwards pulled off two thrilling stops when Eldritch and Routs were right through the defence. Just before the half-time whistle Williams put in the finest shot of the match, a left-foot drive from thirty yards which struck the top of the bar with Campbell beaten. Kerrisdale led 1 to 0 at the interval.

A wonderful transformation came over the game on resuming, and within fifteen minutes the visitors had taken a one-goal lead. In seven minutes "Scotty" Stewart drove in a long, low shot which Campbell went down on his knees to save and then fumbled the ball, and as John Watt rushed in the goalie listed the sphere into his own net to tie the score. Three minutes later, Bob Stewart put in a long bouncing centre and as Campbell ran and then Watt headed the ball over his head into the net to put the Islanders in front.

This gave Esquimalt great encouragement and they bombarded the Kerrisdale goal for a time, shots from Wagland and "Scotty" Stewart flashing inches by the uprights. When Kerrisdale got going again De Costa made another fine save from Wilkinson's first shot.

Routs put over a centre and there was a desperate scrimmage in which De Costa appeared to be fouled before Wilkinson shot through the tying score.

De Costa made two or three more brilliant saves after this. Watt missed a fine chance when clear of the defence, shooting wide with his left foot with only Campbell to beat.

Williams was injured and carried off but returned in a few minutes and played outside left, Barnswell crossing over to the right wing, and R. Stewart going centre half. With only eight minutes to play weakness in clearing allowed Ferguson to almost walk the ball through for what proved to be the winning goal. Kerrisdale were content to hold their lead from then on to the finish.

The teams:
Kerrisdale Merchants—Campbell, Bruce, Miller, White, Ferguson, Morley, Bennett, Munro, Hilditch, Wilkinson and Routs.
Esquimalt—De Costa, Nicol, Joe Watt, Pegin, Williams, Sweeney, R. Stewart, A. Stewart, John Watt, Wagland and Barnswell.
Referee—A. Stokes.

Pacific Northwest—championships will be at stake in the N.P.A.A. regatta at Elk Lake, a big feature for the holiday. Intercity competition in cricket and baseball is also on tap.

The celebration committee, headed by Alderman T. W. O. Hawkins, held the final organization meeting at the City Hall yesterday evening, after which the official programme was announced.

FRIDAY SPORTS
After a long day of outdoor events on July 1, Friday, which include baseball at the Royal Athletic Park, cricket at the University grounds, the regatta at Elk Lake, track meet and motorcycle rodeo at the Royal Athletic Park, three league cricket games at city grounds and baseball at the Royal Athletic Park are the Saturday sport features along with the second day's events in the N.P.A.A. regatta. These will be followed with a dance at the Shrine auditorium, where Mayor Leeming will present the regatta prizes.

Tie For Lead In Minor Loop Ball

Ray Schalk's Buffalo Bisons have done their best to gain a commanding lead in the hot International League pennant race, but Baltimore Orioles refuse to be shaken off.

The Orioles, taking advantage of Buffalo's idleness yesterday, nosed out Jersey City Skeeters, 6 to 5, and went into a virtual tie for first place.

Reading, Keys dealt Newark a double defeat, winning a twilight game, 4 to 1, and a night battle, 5 to 3. It was Reading's seventeenth victory in twenty-two games.

A recent Canadian achievement is the invention of a new cement which resists destruction by alkali in western soils and will thereby save millions of dollars annually in the prairie provinces.

Defeats By Single Runs Keeping Reds In Last Position

With Best Defensive Record in National League Cincinnati Unable to Get Out of Eighth Place; Have Dropped Eighteen Games by One-run Margin; Beaten 6 to 1 by St. Louis Yesterday; Boston Wins; Yankees Trim Washington

Probably the most correct commentary on the tense character of the National League race lies in the fact that Cincinnati Reds, with the best defensive record of any team in the circuit, cannot get out of eighth place.

The secret of Cincinnati's misfortune lies in its inability to win the close ones. Eighteen times the Reds have been beaten by a single run, most of them well-pitched, tightly-fought affairs.

No explanation is necessary of the Reds' latest loss. They ran into Bill Hallahan yesterday when the south-paw felt like pitching himself a ball game. They got only four hits and the score was 6 to 1.

Boston Braves defeated the Phillies, 5 to 2, and went into a virtual tie with Chicago for second place. Bobby Brown yielded but four hits.

GIANTS BREAK EVEN
New York and Brooklyn duelled a pair, the Giants winning the first, 7 to 3, and the Dodgers, the second 5 to 3.

The Yankees demonstrated why they are kingpins of the American League by trimming Washington, 5 to 1. They made only four hits off Al Thomas, but two of them were home runs by Lazzeri and Sewell.

The nineteen-year-old Lewis Krauss made his first start of the season for the Athletics and granted sem hits, beating Boston, 5 to 4.

Two games were scheduled in the league.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Boston, June 29.—Young Bobby Brown pitched the Braves to a virtual second-place tie with Chicago yesterday when he turned back his hard-hitting Phillies, 5 to 2. It was Hallahan's seventh win in his start, and he gave the enemy but four hits, striking out six and walking five.

Boston 10
Batteries—Collins, Ben and V. Davis; Brown and Spohrer.

Sons and Green Mill Meet This Evening in Important League Engagement

When the Sons of Canada oppose the Everett Seagulls in the two exhibition games at the Royal Athletic Park on Friday they will be strengthened by the addition of a pitcher and catcher from the Vancouver Arrows, Charley Fes, manager of the Sons, announced today that Richardson and Barnes, well-known Vancouver battery, would play with the Sons. Par Performance Eliminates Dolp In Opening Round

Defending Champion and Winner of Medalist Honors Beaten 4 and 3 by Fellow Townsman; Stan Leonard, Vancouver, B.C., Champion, Loses in Bitter-fought Extra-hole Match; Marjorie Todd and Mrs. Sayward-Wilson Advance in Women's Play

Portland, Ore., June 29.—Unable to maintain the terrific pace he set in the qualifying round Monday and confronted with par golf by his opponent, Frank Dolp, Portland, defending champion, was eliminated from the Pacific Northwest Golf Association tournament in the first round yesterday.

Eddie Hogan, a fellow Portlander, was the one to drop the champion. Jumping out to an early lead, Hogan had Dolp on the defensive all the way. He was 5 up on Dolp when the morning eighteen was over, and did not allow his opponent to cut down the lead in the afternoon half.

Mrs. Brent Potter, Palo Alto, defending champion in the women's contest, had no great difficulty in surviving the first round yesterday. She took an early lead over Miss Charla Ligner, Portland, and finished 5 up.

The hardest battle yesterday was in the men's first round when Jimmie Bushong, Portland, defeated Stanley Leonard, Vancouver, B.C., British Columbia champion. The battle went to the thirty-seventh hole, which Bushong took with a birdie.

Mrs. Vera Hutchings, Vancouver, a former champion, and runner-up to Mrs. Potter in the qualifying test, defeated Miss Verne East, Vancouver, Wash., 3 and 2.

SAANICH HAS NEW PLAYERS

"Chuck" and Art Chapman Will Turn Out For Cup Game To-morrow

Thistles Lose Crowe and Gibbons For Dominion Football Play-downs

When the Saanich Thistles step on to the field at the Royal Athletic Park to-morrow evening for their Connaught Cup football match with Victoria City they will present a changed line-up. The Thistles will be without the services of two of their best-known players, Joe Crowe and Freddie Gibbons, who have elected to play with the City in the Dominion play-downs.

To replace Crowe and Gibbons the Thistles have signed the two Chapman brothers, "Chuck" and Art, well-known athletes, who turned in such fine performances last season in the Victoria Wednesday League. The Chapmans will hold down the two inside forward positions with "Barney" Burns, regular Saanich centre-forward, between them. The Chapmans, both well over six feet, are two hustling players. They are clever with their feet and pack bullet drives.

The Thistles will have Bridges in goal with Sammy Exler and Harper as full-backs. The half-back line will be composed of R. Williams, Viggers and A. Speller. H. Williams and N. Morgan will complete the forward line. M. Speller will be reserve.

VIEWS CHANGE ON RELIGION

Scientists No Longer Tenaciously Materialistic, Conference Told

Teachings of Barth and St. Athanasius Reviewed By Speakers

The changing view on religion being adopted by scientists who no longer held tenaciously to the material outlook, was emphasized by Rev. J. W. Minto Swan, rector of St. Mark's Anglican Church, Vancouver, in an address on "Modern Trends in Religion" before the Pacific Coast Theological Conference here yesterday.

Mr. Swan referred to the attitude of such men as Einstein, who were showing an appreciation of the values in religion which they found compatible with their scientific studies. In some details he spoke of the teaching of Carl Barth, predominating teacher of Germany, who stressed the tremendous importance of the religion of Christ. It was a good antidote to the modernism which was inclined to let things drift along.

Perhaps between the two extremes of Barthianism and the humanistic theory a happy medium might be found, Mr. Swan suggested.

SPEAKS ON ST. ATHANASIUS

"The Christology of St. Athanasius" formed the topic of an address by Rev. Alan Gardiner, vicar of St. Saviour's Anglican Church here. Mr. Gardiner referred to the early teachings of St. Athanasius, stating he was essentially a disputant with regard to doctrine. By means of his own translation of some passages of St. Athanasius he gave the teacher's own conception of God and Christ. Barth, in the speaker's opinion, was a modern interpreter of the ideas expounded by Athanasius.

Both speakers were thanked for their contributions to the conference. It was well to bring before the conference the doctrines of the old fathers of the church, Rev. W. H. Smith, D.D., honorary principal of Union Church College, in Vancouver, stated. In this respect the address of Mr. Gardiner had been highly valuable.

In the forenoon, Professor Clio Jackson, Ph.D., spoke on "New Testament Criticism and the Christian Church as It Appeared To-day." Rev. Marion E. Bollen, D.D., spoke on "The Kingdom of God."

At noon a luncheon was served in the schoolroom of the Metropolitan Church, where the conference are being held.

At that luncheon Ald. W. T. Straith, on behalf of the city council, extended a welcome to the visiting clergymen. Rev. E. P. Church, pastor of the Metropolitan Church, also spoke of the pleasure it was to entertain the visitors here. Suitable replies were made by several of the visitors.

Demonstrations Seen in Germany

Associated Press
Berlin, June 29.—Repudiation of the "war guilt lie" was the feature of several public demonstrations yesterday on the thirtieth anniversary of the signing of the Treaty of Versailles.

Several patriotic societies held a joint meeting in the Reichstag at which Baron Wilhelm von Gayl, Minister of the Interior, and numerous other prominent Germans were present.

Turbulent crowds shouting "Wake Up, Germany," filled the Lustgarten and the adjacent Unter den Linden, which strong police forces cleared, using their blackjacks.

Frans Seide, founder of the Steel Helmet veterans' organization, delivered an address in which he declared: "We do not want another war, but we want back what has been wickedly taken from us, and we want security for what is our own."

VERDICT IN HULAND CASE

Special to The Times

Duncan, June 29.—At the inquest held by the coroner, Dr. H. P. Swan, here Monday evening to determine the cause of the death of Harry H. Huland, the jury returned the following verdict: "We, the jury, find that the deceased, Harry H. Huland, came to his death by a bullet wound inflicted by himself, while of unsound mind." The jury was composed of Edgar Bailey, foreman; Edward Forrest, Albert Dixon, Wilfred R. Hattie, Donald Butt and A. W. Talbot.

CONFERENCE ROOMS ALLOTTED

Canadian Press
Ottawa, June 29.—Four floors of the main Parliament Building will be required to provide meeting places and offices for the Imperial Economic Conference. The committee in charge of allocating the rooms expects to have arrangements completed by the end of this week. Each delegation will be given a list of the rooms available for it, and its members will decide the use they will make of the space allotted to them.

The plenary meetings of the conference will probably be held in the railway committee room of the Commons, but the Senate chamber will be held in readiness in case the weather is very warm. The Senate chamber is the cooler.
